

JOHN C. 'CHUCK' WILLIAMS

(b)(6)

BIOGRAPHY

A native of San Diego, California, Chuck Williams was raised in the "Inland Empire" and on the deserts of Southern California. He graduated from Claremont High School, Claremont, California. He earned a BA in Geography and Geology from California State University at Chico ('Chico State'), a MPA in Public Administration from the University of Northern Colorado, and a MA in Human Resources Management from Pepperdine University, California.

He entered the United States Air Force, through Officer Training School (OTS). After flight training, Chuck flew 150 combat missions in Vietnam in AC119G 'Shadow' Gunships in 1969-70. While serving in assignments in aviation, administration, information systems, and logistics, Chuck was stationed in Kansas, Arizona, Virginia, New Jersey, Maryland, and at the Pentagon. His final military assignment was at the Commission on the Bicentennial of the U.S. Constitution, White House, Washington, D.C.

Chuck is a graduate of the Air Force Squadron Officer School, Air Command and Staff College, and the Department of Defense Industrial College of the Armed Forces. He was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and six Air Medals for aerial combat, the Defense Meritorious Service Medal, and four Air Force Meritorious Service Medals. Chuck retired as a Lieutenant Colonel in May 1988.

Following his tour of active duty, Chuck joined the 1988 Republican National Convention Staff in New Orleans, Louisiana, and after the election, he served on the Presidential Inaugural Committee Staff in Washington, D.C. In 1989, he received a Presidential appointment to the National Park Service, and was sent on special assignment to California to manage the base closure and transfer of the Army's Presidio of San Francisco to the Golden Gate National Recreation Area.

Chuck left the National Park Service in 1992, to run for U.S. Congress in California's 42nd Congressional District. From 1993-1995, he was the Special Projects Director for Western Public Safety Alternatives, Inc., under contract to the San Bernardino Co. Sheriff's Department. In 1996, Chuck again ran for Congress in the 42nd District. Since that campaign, he has twice directed the California Republican Party's statewide direct mail center in Orange County - (1996 & 1998). Chuck was a field representative for Congressman Darrell Issa's U.S. Senate campaign from 1997-98, and was elected Chairman of the San Bernardino Co. Republican Party, serving from 1997-99. Chuck was the National Director of Operations & Logistics and the California State Director for Alan Keyes 2000 Presidential campaign, from April 1999 - August 2000. He also served on the Bush / Cheney Victory 2000 Campaign in California, working on the Cheney Advance Team and Veterans for Bush, and on the advanced planning for the Bush / Cheney Inaugural Committee in 2001.

From early 2001 to 2003 Chuck worked private property rights and public lands access issues for a variety of clients, including representing San Bernardino Co. on the Bureau of Land Management's West Mojave Planning Team.

In November 2001 following the September 11th Attack on America, Chuck became Project Director for the Freedom's Flame 9-11 Memorial Foundation and was personally responsible for procuring and transporting eighteen tons of World Trade Center steel, plus a damaged FDNY 9-11 fire truck, from Ground Zero in NYC to Southern California, across eighteen states, through twenty-two cities, ten state capitals, and the nation's capital, in eleven days. Freedom's Flame is $15 million dollar project to raise money and build two 9-11 Memorials, one in NY City & the other in Southern California.

During 2003 Chuck was a field representative for Congressman Darrell Issa and Peter Ueberoth Gubernatorial campaigns in California's historic recall election, and then managed Dr. Bill Emmerson's successful bid for Assembly in Southern California.

In October 2003, Chuck was asked to return to government service with the Department of Defense and became the Director of Personnel for the Coalition Provisional Authority (CPA) in Baghdad, Iraq. Following Iraq's Transition to Sovereignty in June 2004, he became the Regional Programs Coordinator, NE, for DOD's Projects & Contracting Office. He was responsible for over two billion dollars in reconstruction projects in four of Iraq's eighteen governorates.

Chuck returned for Iraq in mid-November 2004 and is currently working as a special consultant to the Office of the Secretary of Defense at the Pentagon in Washington, D.C.

Chuck operates Williams Associates, a logistics-consulting firm in Rancho Cucamonga, CA. He is a Reserve Deputy in the San Bernardino Co. Sheriff's Department, and is active in the Rancho Cucamonga Rotary Club.^{(b)(6)}
