PROCEDURES

1. GENERAL. The loss of a spouse or child has detrimental effects on a member’s ability to perform assigned duties. In accordance with Section 701(l) of Title 10, U.S.C., a member who experiences such a loss will be allowed up to 14 days of leave to be used in connection with the death of a spouse or child. A member with less than 30 days of accrued ordinary leave may be authorized bereavement leave for this purpose.

2. IMPLEMENTATION OF BEREAVEMENT LEAVE.

   a. Immediate Effect. A member whose spouse or child dies on or after this DTM’s effective date, and who was charged leave in connection with such death, may request such leave be restored through the process established by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned or the Commandant of the Coast Guard. Such leave will be restored if the member would have been eligible for bereavement leave as described in this DTM.

   b. Retroactive Period. A member whose spouse or child died on or after June 25, 2022, and before this DTM’s effective date, and who was charged leave in connection with such death, may request such leave be restored through the process established by the Secretary of the Military Department concerned or the Commandant of the Coast Guard. Such leave will be restored if the member would have been eligible for bereavement leave as described in this DTM and the member has not separated (includes transfer to the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve) or retired from active service before the effective date of this DTM.

3. AUTHORITY TO GRANT BEREAVEMENT LEAVE. Authority to grant bereavement leave will be extended to unit commanders. Swift and sensitive action on bereavement leave requests will be made to avoid additional stress on the member and their family.

4. ELIGIBILITY.

   a. A member whose spouse or child dies on or after June 25, 2022 and who has fewer than 30 days of accrued ordinary leave on the date of such death is eligible for bereavement leave.

   b. A member whose spouse or child dies on or after June 25, 2022 and who has 30 or more days of accrued ordinary leave on the date of such death is eligible for bereavement leave once their accrued ordinary leave is less than 30 days.

5. ALLOCATION OF BEREAVEMENT LEAVE. A member may be authorized up to 14 consecutive days of bereavement leave, based on the member’s request, to be used in connection with the death of a spouse or child.
6. PERIOD OF BEREAVEMENT. The period of bereavement is the timeframe in which a member may take bereavement leave. The period of bereavement begins on the date of death of a spouse or child and ends on the date that is no later than 14 consecutive days after the deceased person’s funeral, burial, or memorial service, whichever occurs last. The Secretary of the Military Department concerned or Commandant of the Coast Guard may extend a member’s period of bereavement due to operational requirements or other extenuating circumstances.

7. LEAVE IN CONNECTION WITH THE DEATH OF A SPOUSE OR CHILD.

   a. General Provisions. Members will be afforded the opportunity to take up to 14 days of leave in connection with the death of a spouse or child, consistent with operational requirements. Additional leave may be authorized.

   b. Bereavement Leave. Eligible members may be authorized up to 14 days of bereavement leave, to be taken in one increment of consecutive calendar days, during the period of bereavement described in Paragraph 6 of this attachment. A member who initially requests and is authorized less than 14 consecutive days of bereavement leave may be authorized to extend the period of bereavement leave up to 14 consecutive days, so long as all of the bereavement leave is taken in one increment.

   c. Other Leave in Addition to Bereavement Leave. Bereavement leave may be authorized in combination with chargeable leave (e.g., emergency leave, ordinary leave, and advance leave) and other types of non-chargeable leave (e.g., convalescent leave and emergency leave of absence). When more than one type of leave is authorized, bereavement leave does not need to be taken prior to using other types of leave but, unlike other types of leave, bereavement leave must be used during the period of bereavement described in Paragraph 6 of this attachment.

   d. Transition from Chargeable Leave to Bereavement Leave. During the period of bereavement, a member with 30 or more days of accrued ordinary leave who is authorized to take chargeable leave (e.g., emergency leave) will be charged leave until such point that the member’s accrued ordinary leave is less than 30 days. Up to 14 consecutive days of bereavement leave may be authorized to begin after such point.

8. LIMITATIONS.

   a. Absent an exception due to operational requirements or other extenuating circumstances, a member will not be authorized bereavement leave for a period that extends past the end of the period of bereavement.

   b. A member will not be extended on, or recalled back to, active service solely to permit the member to be authorized bereavement leave.

   c. A member will not be authorized bereavement leave in connection with the death of a person who is not their spouse or child, but may be authorized other forms of leave, as appropriate, in accordance with DoDI 1327.06.
d. A member will not be authorized bereavement leave in connection with a stillbirth or miscarriage, but may be authorized other forms of leave, as appropriate, in accordance with DoDI 1327.06.

e. A member whose misconduct resulted in the death of their spouse or child will not be authorized bereavement leave.

9. VALIDATION OF SPOUSE OR CHILD’S DEATH. Unit commanders may consider a member’s self-certification of the death of their spouse or child to approve a request for bereavement leave. Unit commanders will require the member to provide administratively acceptable documentation within 30 calendar days after returning to duty. If the member fails to provide the required documentation, the unit commander will direct that their ordinary leave account be reduced by the number of days of bereavement leave taken.
