(U) FIRE AT CULT COMPOUND IN WACO, TEXAS (U). This EXSUM is self-initiated. FBI attempts to finally resolve the cult standoff began at 190600 (CDT) April 93 and involved the controlled use of CS gas dispensed from the boom head of ARNG combat engineer vehicles operated by FBI agents. Approximately six hours into the operation Davidian cult members apparently set fire to the compound, razing the entire structure in less than an hour. Preliminary reports indicate nine cult members escaped from the burning compound and were either taken into custody or were transported to medical treatment facilities. No law enforcement personnel or military personnel were reportedly injured. A final report of casualties is pending. Return of military equipment will be handled expeditiously as soon as crime scene processing is complete. PROVIDE MEMO _____

SUBJECT: Army Support to Federal Law Enforcement Agencies in Waco, Texas -- INFORMATION MEMORANDUM

1. Purpose. To provide information concerning the Waco standoff.

2. Facts.

a. In the aftermath of the February 28, 1993, confrontation between Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, and Firearms (BATF) agents and cult members in Waco, Texas, Federal law enforcement agencies requested Department of Defense equipment support. The support furnished by DoD/Army was non-operational and was approved by OSD and/or Army Secretariat and has been provided by both the Active and Reserve components.

(1) Active component support included:

(a) two utility helicopters (UH-1);

(b) two main battle tanks (OSD Approved)

(c) two support vehicles for the main battle tanks (one High Mobility Multi-wheeled Vehicle (HMMWV) and one 2 1/2 ton truck);

(d) three CH-47s and three UH-1s, with crews, and five doctors on standby for medical emergencies (from Fort Hood)

(e) four medical personnel from the Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences (OSD Approved)

(f) miscellaneous night vision goggles, mine detectors, tents, generators, light sets, cots, and sandbags;

(g) and approximately 23 additional soldiers in liaison and maintenance roles -- (All active component personnel were briefed on the legal restrictions on direct law enforcement support).

(2) Reserve Component support provided by the Texas Army National Guard included:

(a) ten Bradleys (M2A1 Infantry Fighting Vehicles);

(b) five Combat Engineer Vehicles (M728 Combat Engineer Vehicles);

(c) 12 High Mobility Multi-Wheeled Vehicles (HMMWVs);

(d) and two utility cargo trucks.

(3) Additional state (Title 32) operational support consisted of one fuel truck, two buses, one van, three 1 1/2 ton trailers, two utility helicopters (UH-60s) on stand-by, and miscellaneous tents, body armor, and night vision goggles. Approximately 15 Army National Guard personnel were filling liaison, maintenance, and other support roles.

b. Combat vehicles were loaned without operable weapons systems and with Army markings obscured. The vehicles were being piloted/driven by FBI and BATF personnel. The FBI and BATF crews for the main battle tanks, infantry fighting vehicles, and combat engineer vehicles were trained by Army personnel prior to the loan of the equipment. The FBI crews for the utility helicopters were already trained and certified to Army standards.

c. All support furnished is reimbursable under the provisions of the Economy Act and has been provided in accordance with DODD 5525.5, DoD Cooperation with Civilian Law Enforcement Officials, January 15, 1986.

d. Time Sequence:

(1) 1000/28 February -- BATF attempts to arrest David Koresh at compound in Waco, Texas

(2) 1730/28 February -- Initial BATF and FBI requests for DoD support

(3) 28 Feb-14 April -- FBI gradually requests wide variety of DoD support to resolve situation

(4) 14 April -- DoD Personnel attend DOJ briefing at FBI (Details at classified Encl)

(5) 18 April -- DOJ/FBI Plan approved and DoD advised of plan

(6) 0600/19 April -- FBI operation in Waco commences

c. Summary of FBI Operation.

(1) FBI operation involved the controlled use of CS gas dispensed from the boom head of ARNG combat engineer vehicles operated by FBI agents

(2) Approximately six hours into the operation Davidian cult members apparently set fire to the compound, quickly razing the entire structure in less than an hour.

(3) Preliminary reports indicate 8 cult members escaped from the burning compound and were either taken into custody or were transported to medical treatment facilities.

(4) No law enforcement personnel or military personnel were reportedly injured. A final report of casualties is not yet available

Houston Chronicle

P.O. Box 4260 Houston, Texas 77210 (713) 320 7171

Tuesday, April 20, 1993

To: Col. [REDACTED], Texas Army National Guard Pao
From: [REDACTED] reporter, Houston Chronicle

(3) [REDACTED]
I have included a letter sent by myself to the National Guard Bureau and wanted to provide a copy to you as a courtesy and also to see if there are any questions contained in the letter that TXARNG can respond.

I'm very much interested in understanding fully what role TXARNG had in the planning, support and execution of the Feb. 28, 1993 raid on Branch Davidian compound.

(4) Specifically, I'm curious about what role [REDACTED] Interagency Coordinator, Counter Drug Command Group had in the planning of the BATF raid and what efforts he or his office participated in on the day of the raid and afterwards to support the raid.

Would it be possible for the TXARNG to explain what role the Counter Drug Command Group may have played in arranging for the use of Fort Hood facilities for training of BATF agents in preparation for the raid on the compound, if such was the case.

(5) A sit-down interview with [REDACTED] or any other Guard officials who can explain the role of TXARNG in the raid would be ideal.

I'm also interested to find out specifics of TXARNG activities in the duty office or command center on the morning of the raid.

I would also appreciate interviews with the air crews of the OH-58 helicopters and UH-1 helicopter used in the morning raid along with information about what level of damage these aircraft suffered.

Your attention to this detailed and complex information request is greatly appreciated and I look forward to working something out.

With regards,

the federal authorities could maintain, with their limited resources, the quality and intensity of coverage by experts there. They might be needed in other parts of the country.

Number two, that the people who had reviewed this had never seen a case quite like this one before. And they were convinced that no progress had been made recently and no progress was going to be made through the normal means of getting Koresh and the other cult members to come out.

Number three, that the danger of their doing something to themselves or to others was likely to increase not decrease with the passage of time.

And number four, that they had reason to believe that the children who were still inside the compound were being abused significantly, as well as being forced to live in unsanitary and unsafe conditions.

So for those reasons, they wanted to move at that time.

The second question I asked the Attorney General is whether they had given consideration to all the things that could go wrong and evaluated them against what might happen that was good. She said that the FBI personnel on the scene, and those working with them, were convinced that the chances of bad things happening would increase with the passage of time.

The third question I asked was has the military been consulted? As soon as the initial tragedy came to light in Waco, that's the first thing I asked to be done because it was obvious that this was not a typical law enforcement situation. Military people were then brought in, helped to analyze the situation and some of the problems that were presented by it. And so I asked if the military had been consulted. The Attorney General said that they had and that they were in basic agreement that there was only one minor tactical difference of opinion between the FBI and the military, something that both sides thought was not of overwhelming significance. SPECIAL OPS PEOPLE

Having asked those questions and gotten those answers, I said that if she thought it was the right thing to do that she should proceed and that I would support it. And I stand by that today.

Q Mr. President --

PRESIDENT CLINTON: Now, wait -- go ahead.

Q Can you address the widespread perception reported widely -- television, radio and newspapers -- that you were trying somehow to distance yourself from the disaster because -- ① [REDACTED] in said he hopes to make public the cult members' accounts of the original raid by Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms agents, evidence he contends indicates that federal agents fired the first shots inside the compound and did so without provocation.

"I'm convinced from our discussions that the first shots were fired by the ATF agents unjustifiably," he said. "I'm convinced that there were at least two people killed inside before any fire was returned. I'm convinced that helicopters also fired on the people inside the compound, and at least one person, perhaps two were killed by gunfire from the helicopters."

That account contradicts the ATF's accounts and reports from news media witnesses that the cult fired first on the ATF agents.

② [REDACTED] also disputed the FBI's contention that Mr. Koresh deliberately misled his attorneys and authorities during the siege.

"That's not what I was told and that's not what I felt from my discussions with him," he said. "However, the situation changed when the FBI went back and injected tear gas and started ripping apart the walls. I think that could only have been seen by those inside as the apocalypse coming upon them. I just don't see that the escalation today was justified."

the federal authorities could maintain, with their limited resources, the quality and intensity of coverage by experts there. They might be needed in other parts of the country.

Number two, that the people who had reviewed this had never seen a case quite like this one before. And they were convinced that no progress had been made recently and no progress was going to be made through the normal means of getting Koresh and the other cult members to come out.

Number three, that the danger of their doing something to themselves or to others was likely to increase not decrease with the passage of time.

And number four, that they had reason to believe that the children who were still inside the compound were being abused significantly, as well as being forced to live in unsanitary and unsafe conditions.

So for those reasons, they wanted to move at that time.

The second question I asked the Attorney General is whether they had given consideration to all the things that could go wrong and evaluated them against what might happen that was good. She said that the FBI personnel on the scene, and those working with them, were convinced that the chances of bad things happening would increase with the passage of time.

The third question I asked was has the military been consulted? As soon as the initial tragedy came to light in Waco, that's the first thing I asked to be done because it was obvious that this was not a typical law enforcement situation. Military people were then brought in, helped to analyze the situation and some of the problems that were presented by it. And so I asked if the military had been consulted. The Attorney General said that they had and that they were in basic agreement that there was only one minor tactical difference of opinion between the FBI and the military, something that both sides thought was not of overwhelming significance.

Having asked those questions and gotten those answers, I said that if she thought it was the right thing to do that she should proceed and that I would support it. And I stand by that today.

Q Mr. President --

April 20, 1993

On the morning of February 28, 1993, I was pilot in command of a UH-60L helicopter assigned the task to act as a diversion while ATF personnel approached the Mount Carmel compound outside of Waco, Texas.

At approximately 0945 we approached the compound from the Northeast following two OH-58 helicopters. We began to receive gunfire on the approach but at no time returned the fire.

My helicopter was not armed nor did any of the crewmembers carry weapons. The ATF agents we were transporting carried side arms but at no time did they discharge said weapons while on board the aircraft.

The aircraft, SN 91-26319, carried external fuel pods and flew with all doors closed making it impossible to discharge weapons from the passenger compartment.

I submit that these statements are true and correct.

③ I, [REDACTED], WANT TO MAKE THE FOLLOWING STATEMENT UNDER OATH

On 28 Feb 93, I was pilot in command, of the lead aircraft of a flight of three, for Operation Trojan Horse near Waco, TX. Our mission was to provide a diversion to the North of the objective with the noise of the aircraft. We were also a command and control aircraft with [REDACTED]; of the ATF, on board to observe the issuing of the warrant. While approaching the objective, our aircraft received gunfire, turned away from the objective, and departed to the north. My aircraft, 15303, was carrying myself, a National Guard member, ⑤ [REDACTED] also a National Guard member and the ATF agent listed above. Neither myself or [REDACTED] had a weapon. The aircraft had no weapons. The ATF agent on board had his sidearm with him, but it was not fired. All of the doors were on the aircraft and restrict a weapon from being fired.
