FOR SECRETARY OF DEFENSE

FROM: Peter W. Rodman, Assistant Secretary of Defense (ISA) May 3rd 11/19/06

SUBJECT: Plan for Colombia and Peru Trade Agreements in Congress

You asked for a plan to help ratify the Colombia and Peru trade agreements. Before we start working on Congress, we recommend you write USTR offering to help during the ratification process (Tab A).

- USTR should know we want to help, and give us the cue on when to weigh in.
- As with CAFTA, our role should be to help explain the national security arguments, and how these countries should be seen as part of a friendly strategic system.

The agreements will have to be ratified separately.

- Peru: Agreement signed, GOP claims its Congress will ratify in June. However, with presidential elections in June this seems unlikely. USTR plans to get Peru's FTA to our Congress before the summer recess (and before Toledo leaves office).
- Colombia: Almost there, but unfortunately not quite. Some discrepancies remain in the final texts of the agriculture chapter. Colombia's Ambassador Pastrana indicates that a quick reconciliation of the agricultural chapter will ease critics' suspicions.
  - The difficulties have strengthened the hand of the opposition in the GOC. Uribe's opponents in the election claim that the U.S. and GOC negotiators are hiding provisions deep within the agriculture text.
- Ambassador Pastrana urged DASD Pardo-Maurer to have DoD weigh-in with USTR to quickly move on the Colombia FTA as the best way to manage Chavez' efforts to destroy the Community of Andean Nations (CAN). Since then, senior USTR and GOC officials have met to review differences, after lower-level efforts to reconcile the texts were not successful.
- There is little chance Congress will approve Colombia's FTA before the end of the year. After verification USTR must provide 90-day notification to Congress in advance of signing. Once signed the FTA must undergo a 45-to-90 days of International Trade Commission review.

We propose the following immediate action:

- Letter to USTR offering to help move the trade agreements through Congress.

Then, when appropriate we could take these steps:

- As Congress considers each FTA approval, invite the Colombian and Peruvian MODs to Washington as part of a broader campaign focused on regional stability and prosperity, not trade alone.
- Host a reception for key members of Congress as you did for the CAFTA-DR.
- Write an Op-ed on security implications of FTAs.
- In coordination with USTR, communicate with select members of Congress.
- Provide senior DoD officials specific Talking Points on FTA's security links.
- If necessary make phone calls during the vote arguing for the agreements' approval.

- SecDef signs letter to USTR.
