WAYNE ARMY

Wayne Army is the Deputy Under Secretary of Defense for Installation and Environment. In this position, he has management and oversight responsibilities within the Department of Defense for military installations worldwide. These cover a land area of over 46,000 square miles and contain 587,000 buildings and structures valued at more than $640 billion. His responsibilities include the development of installation capabilities, programs, and budgets; base realignment and closure; privatization of military housing and utilities system; competitive sourcing; and integrating installations and environment needs into the weapons acquisition process. Additionally, he has responsibility for environmental management, safety and occupational health; environmental restoration at active and closing bases; conservation of natural and cultural resources; pollution prevention; environmental research and technology; fire protection; and explosives safety. Mr. Army also serves as the Department's designated Senior Real Property Officer, as well as the DOD representative to the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation.

Most recently Mr. Army was the Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Navy (Installations & Facilities) for the Department of the Navy. In this position, he was responsible for oversight of Military Construction, Energy and Utility Privatization, BRAC execution and disposal, and Family and Bachelor Housing Privatization for the Navy and the Marine Corps. He also served concurrently as the Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Navy (Installations & Environment). His first position with the George W. Bush Administration was as the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense (Senate Legislative Affairs) for the Department of Defense, responsible for legislative coordination between the Department of Defense and the U.S. Senate.

Prior to joining the Bush Administration, Wayne Army was the President of Wayne Army & Associates, a government relations firm he founded in January 1990 after 29 years in the Federal Government and the U.S. Navy. His firm represented clients involved in national security and international affairs issues in front of the Executive and Legislative Branches. He also assisted his clients in marketing to the Federal Government and the Private Sector.

In 1989 Wayne Army left federal service for the first time after serving on Capitol Hill and in two positions in the Reagan Administration. From 1986 to 1989 he was the Program Associate Director (National Security & International Affairs) at the OMB in the White House handling all government wide budget and execution issues related to the Departments of Defense and State and all the other major and minor agencies that make up Defense and Foreign Affairs components of the Federal Government. From 1984 to 1986 he was the Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Navy (Shipbuilding & Logistics) handling procurement issues covering shipbuilding, aircraft procurement, real estate, environmental restoration, weapons procurement, and logistics. From 1981 to 1984 Mr. Army was a Professional Staff Member on the Subcommittee on Sea Power and Force Projection of the Senate Armed Services Committee, where he worked for Sen. John Tower (R-TX) and Sen. Bill Cohen (R-ME). He was responsible for Navy shipbuilding, research and development, missiles, torpedoes, electronics, ASW aircraft, airlift, rapid deployment forces, and general strategy issues.

Wayne Army is a 1964 graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and served as an active duty Naval Aviator until 1981, achieving the rank of Commander. He resigned to work for the Senate Armed Services Committee. During his active duty service, he was a fighter pilot flying the F-4 PHANTOM off Vietnam, with additional tours in the Western Pacific, the Mediterranean and the North Atlantic. During his career he was also a Test Pilot and a long-range planning officer for the Chief of Naval Operations. In 1979 he was the first Navy Fellow and first Military Fellow at the American Enterprise Institute for Public Policy Research. In 1980 he was a planning officer in the State Department. He finished his career as a Captain in the Naval Reserve, having had command of two Battle Staffs; one for the Chief of Naval Operations in Washington, D.C. and the other for the NATO Command in Portugal.

In addition to graduating from the U.S. Naval Academy with a Bachelor of Science degree, Wayne Army has a Masters in International Relations from Catholic University, Washington, DC. He is a graduate of the Navy Test Pilot School, the Navy Fighter Weapons School (Topgun), and the Naval War College.

KEY EXPERTISE

Proven expertise across related disciplines addressing national and global security policy making and analysis.

Broad range of relevant teaching experience across diverse student bodies.

Recognized superior research and analytical skills.

Extensive operational experience in developing areas and conflict zones, as a former U.S. Air Force officer and pilot of the C-130 (first woman) and C-17.

Demonstrated capacity to apply theory to practice to drive organizational change across the U.S. government.

Excellent oral and written communication skills and public speaking abilities.

Dr Janine Davidson is an Assistant Professor, National and Global Security at George Mason's Graduate School of Public Affairs and a non-resident fellow at the Brookings Institution. She is an expert in the fields of international relations, foreign policy, stabilization operations, reconstruction, counterinsurgency and conflict transformation. As an experienced thought leader in the national security community, she is a leader in inter-agency capability development and coordination with a proven track record of initiating and driving organizational change. In 2008, she was a national security policy advisor for the Barak Obama presidential campaign and then a member of the president-elect's pentagon transition team.

From 2006-2008 she served as Director, DoD Stability Operations Capabilities in the office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Stability Operations. In this role, she oversaw the implementation of DoD Directive 3000.05, "Military Support to Stability, Security, Transition, and Reconstruction (SSTR)." She was also the Department of Defense lead for the Interagency Counterinsurgency Initiative, and led the development of the Consortium for Complex Operations, an innovative interagency project to enhance education, training, and performance in complex emergencies, including conflict prevention, peace operations, stabilization, reconstruction, and counterinsurgency.

Before joining the Department of Defense, Dr. Davidson was Director, Counterinsurgency Studies with the Center for Adaptive Strategies and Threats at Hicks and Associates, Inc, where she developed a reputation for excellence leading teams of analysts for counterinsurgency, terrorism, stability & reconstruction operations, Red Teaming and war-gaming. Dr. Davidson was an Associate and consultant at DFI Government Practice in Washington D.C. where she directed projects for the Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Reserve Affairs and for the Air Force Directorate of Strategic Planning. From 2003 to 2004 Dr. Davidson was a pre-doctoral Research Fellow at the Brookings Institution where she researched doctrine, education, and training for stability and reconstruction operations.

From 1988 to 1998, Dr. Davidson served in the United States Air Force as an aircraft commander and senior pilot for the C-130 and the C-17 cargo aircraft. She conducted combat support and humanitarian air mobility missions throughout Asia, Europe, and the Middle East. As an instructor pilot, she also taught flying, aerodynamics, and navigation at the U.S. Air Force Academy. Dr. Davidson has also taught at Davidson College in North Carolina. Her forthcoming book, The Fog of Peace, examines the U.S. military's adaptation and learning processes for counterinsurgency and irregular war.

Department of Defense
Lead for Reform of Case/Care Management for Wounded, Ill, Injured and their Families

Dr. Lynda C. Davis

Dr. Lynda C. Davis assumed the duties as Deputy Assistant Secretary of the Navy in July 2006 where she organized the Department's Comprehensive Casualty Care reform effort to address the needs of wounded Sailors and Marines and support their families. In May of 2007 she was designated the Department of Defense lead for the reform of case/care management for all wounded, ill, and injured service members and their families. She works jointly with the VA and other federal agencies, state and local governments, VSOs/VBOs, business, academia and non-profit organizations to enhance clinical and non-clinical services provided across the full continuum of care from in-patient recovery to community based reintegration.

Dr. Davis previously served on the faculty of the Departments of Public Administration and Psychiatry at the University of Southern California where she taught community clinical based care and human services management. She was Director of Clinical Services at the community-based medical clinic adjacent to the University of California at Santa Barbara and worked in the Department of Social and Community Psychiatry at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Sepulveda, California. Dr. Davis' research on community-based care and mental health training has been published in the Journal of Community Psychology and the Journal of Medical Education, among others.

She has also served as President of Davis O'Connell, Inc. a government relations firm providing resource development services to education and health care institutions. Dr. Davis' other Washington, DC based positions included Director of the Governor's Office for the State of Florida and Analyst for the U.S. Department of Education Offices of Legislative Affairs and Planning and Budget and the Office of Management and Budget. She also completed tours at the Senate Budget and Appropriations Committees.

Dr. Davis received her BA in Developmental Psychology from the University of California at Santa Barbara, her MA in Community/Clinical Psychology from California State University at Northridge, and her MPA and PhD in Public Administration (Health and Human Services Administration) from the University of Southern California.

A Signal Officer in the Florida Army National Guard from 1987 to 1994, Dr. Davis transferred to the United States Army Reserves where she served until 1997. She obtained the rank of Captain and earned the "Ironman Award" at Fort Gordon, GA.

Dr. Davis is a member of the Department of Veterans Affairs Veterans Advisory Committee on Rehabilitation, the Walter Reed Society and is a USO Volunteer. She is the past Vice Chair of the Defense Advisory Committee on Women in the Services (DACOWITS), the former Chair of the National Council for Adoption and a member of INMED: Partnership for Children.

EXPERIENCE:

May 1999-present; 40+ hours per week; Deputy Director (YC-0340-03); Pentagon Renovation and Construction Program Office (PENREN), 100 Boundary Channel Drive, Arlington, Virginia, 22202. (b)(6)

MAJOR TASKS:

I currently serve as Deputy Director of the Pentagon Renovation and Construction Office (PENREN), Washington Headquarters Services, Director Administration and Management, Office of the Secretary of Defense. As the Deputy Director, I lead an organization with an annual budget of approximately $500 million and 450 government and contract personnel who manage and execute the PENREN program, Raven Rock Renovation, and numerous ancillary construction and Information Technology (IT) projects related to Pentagon mission and operations. I manage and direct the personnel and activities of several Integrated Products Groups and provide direct supervision of these Group leads. These groups are established to plan, manage, direct, and administer overall IT and construction projects and activities in each of the geographic areas of the Pentagon Reservation. The groups are matrixed divisions consisting of the professional, technical, administrative, and clerical personnel assigned from supporting organizations to carry out specific projects responsibilities. I manage overall strategic and programming aspects of the activities with team members; such as planning, design, budgeting, acquisition, contracting, scheduling, delivery, and execution of demolition, for IT and construction projects. I ensure these activities integrated with overall PENREN business processes to achieve the overall strategic mission of PENREN. Furthermore, I ensure management oversight such that new technology can be proposed and incorporated into the Program with maximum efficiency and minimal budget impact. In addition, I manage integration of the project plans into overall strategic master planning efforts on the Pentagon Reservation. I coordinate extensively with other Directorate Deputies, to ensure all projects are integrated across the reservation. Lastly, I ensure cost and quality control systems are in place and in use, that delivery and other schedules are adhered to, that compliance with local and national codes, environmental, and safety requirements are observed, and that state-of-the-art construction techniques are utilized.

During my tenure with PENREN under WHS, I have also held the following positions:

May 1999- May 2002: Construction Operations Group Leader, GS-0340-15 and I served on a critical detail to COOP/COG for the DCIN network.

May 2002 – June 2005: Information Technology Director and I served on another critical detail as the RRMCLiaison, as well as on the Iraq Source Selection for Reconstruction.

MAJOR TASKS Served as chief of the Test and Field Engineering section for all areas of information technology, performed site inspections of facilities for suitability of the environment to handle IT systems in regards to building construction, power, back-up power and HVAC issues Our team of 20 civilians and 10 military were responsible for final equipment checkout of government or contractor engineered/installed systems before turning them over to the customer Our team developed test plans or utilized contractor developed government approved test/inspection procedures Our policy was that we did not leave a site until all problems were identified and corrected unless the resolution of a fix would take weeks where we would return We also provided to the customer on-site training in maintenance or other operational tips We left the site with all documentation complete and provided an organizational telephone number for future work or problem areas We wanted to leave the customer with the feeling that we were a value added test organization who not only inspected and tested but provided problem resolution experience

October 1989 to December 1992, 40 hrs per week, (GS-14 0855) Chief of Engineering, Installation and Maintenance Section for the Test and Evaluation Command (TECOM) White Sands Missile Range, NM, Director of Information Management Promoted to GS-14 in August 1990 (b)(6)

MAJOR TASKS Served as chief of installation, Maintenance and Engineering Division over 168 personnel consisting of both GS and WG employees As a supervisor, we established a two year plan to ensure tests scheduled for the range would have appropriate Information Technology (IT) infrastructure to gather test data This plan served as the baseline of a procurement action that ended up with a $100M range improvement program to be accomplished over a 6-8 year period Further we established plans to upgrade facilities for power, back-up power, HVAC and expand floor space requirements at various IT facilities at the 4000 sq mile range We reduced manning of the DOIM via a reduction in force and had appropriate contracts ready to pick-up outsourced work Due to the large number of WG, WL and WS employees I really had to learn personnel rules and regulations and how to listen, negotiate and compromise I never had the union disagree with one of my proposed solutions

February 1983 to October 1989, 40 hrs per week, Branch Chief (GS-13 0855) of ISEC Europe (ISEC-EUR) Worms Germany for Secure Data and Command Control Systems, Promoted to GS-13 June 1984 (b)(6)

MAJOR TASKS: Served as branch chief for projects concerning secure data or voice, as well as all command and control IT issues for US European Command (EUCOM), USA - EUROPE (USAEUR), US elements at SHAPE and all US-NATO IT interfaces. These projects required knowledge of both US and NATO standards. I was TDY one year to SHAPE Belgium for the engineering installation testing and cutover of IT systems into a new underground bunker under construction at SHAPE. I interfaced with NATO IT personnel as well as the civil, mechanical and electrical engineers and architects responsible for building this facility. I ensured that IT facility requirements were understood and incorporated into their designs and that US IT systems that were to interface with NATO or other individual NATO elements were well understood, I was able to present cases for improved systems through formal procedures (via interpreters in some cases). I was also detailed for 27 months to Stuttgart Germany for the emergency relocation of the US EUCOM Command Center, DCINC and ambassadors building and staff due to asbestos issues. I again developed facility criteria for the construction engineers to incorporate into the facilities that we moved the people and systems into. I briefed at the Four Star level the timeline and cost required from an IT perspective and further joined with the COE elements in developing a joint timeline document. I ensured by weekly reviews of our IT design that schedules were met and costs were contained to our estimates. During these 39 months of TDY I still ran my branch back in Worms of 10 civilians and 8 military personnel bringing them to the above projects for on-site training as most were interns or LT's/junior CPT's. I also had the opportunity to serve as the engineer and test director in Munich Germany for PM European Telephone system for the hardware and software issues and problem resolution associated with a telephone switch modernization effort for all US Forces in Europe, this would lead to the installation of 156 telephone switches throughout Europe for the US military.

June 1972 to February 1983; 40 hrs per week; USA LT, GS-07, 09, 11 and 12 for ISEC Fort Huachuca, AZ

MAJOR TASKS: Served as a secure IT engineer for the IT systems associated with the construction of a new bunker/command post at Tango in Korea, served as the lead IT engineer for a project that was installed at various NATO bunker/command posts in Europe called Selective Release Improvement Program (SELRIP) where I briefed what the systems were enabling them to do and also provided the facility criteria for power and HVAC to the appropriate engineering organizations and countries who operated the facilities, the project required over 300 days of TDY and was completed in less than one year which no one expected. Due to this NATO experience I was again given the opportunity to be involved at these same locations plus some additional sites for the upgrade of some intelligence gathering networks, again completed on time and within cost. I was loaned out to the Air Force to serve on a source selection team at Scott for a Red Switch and to help with on site engineering at an upgrade at MacDill AFB during 1982. I served as the Information Systems Command and the Army's RED/BLACK security engineering person on orders (80-83) to interface with NSA/DIA and DISA. I also had blanket travel orders for problem resolution and isolation and authority from the KO to call out the contractor for the Wideband Secure Voice Command and Control switch (AN/FTC-31) at various CINC locations during 81 and 82. I was fortunate in being selected as a member of study team assembled in late 1975 to develop a plan to move EUCOM to Belgium. This plan was disapproved but a third section of the SHAPE bunker constructed during 1985 was a result of this multidisciplinary team.

Course directed and taught the Advanced Course on American Politics. As executive officer of the Department, managed the day-to-day operations of a 53 person academic department with four divisions.

U.S. Army Artillery Officer

1979 – 1995

Division Artillery Operations Officer

1994 – 1995

4th Infantry Division Mechanized, Fort Carson, Colorado

Devised, planned, and executed the training of a mechanized infantry division artillery organization consisting of over 1,000 soldiers. Improved and expanded operations; refined operational support to field, crisis and operations missions. Coordinated artillery staff sections to improve wartime and contingency plans. Networked with foreign, Department of Defense, and other government officials to improve conduct and assessment of training.

Artillery Command and Staff, Bamberg, Germany and Fort Carson, CO

1982 – 1986

Led, planned and conducted the operations of forward deployed 125-person artillery company; oversaw materiel readiness, troop and family welfare, and supply security. Led the management and maintenance of $11 million worth of equipment. Unit received the very highest rating on inspections and preparedness.

Aide to General Colin L. Powell, Fort Carson, Colorado

1981 – 1982

Oversaw office management and administration for the Assistant Division Commander for operations and training, 4th Infantry Division Mechanized, Fort Carson, Colorado.

Andre J. Gudger

Mr. Gudger has an 18 year distinguished career serving the global finance and national intelligence industries. At the age of 12, Mr. Gudger was a recognized mathematical and computer science prodigy by his peers and educators as he developed advance software applications and complex algorithms. Mr. Gudger is currently serving as the Chairman and CEO of Solvern Innovations, Maryland BRAC Small & Minority Business Advisory Board member, and University of Maryland Baltimore County Advisory Panel Board member for our Engineering Management.

In 2003, Mr. Gudger formed Solvern Innovations, a corporate entity that would provide high-end solutions to its customers through unique research and sponsored product innovation. This new start-up corporate entity quickly signed agreements with University of Maryland College Park, Human Computer Interaction Lab to provide software development and commercialization practices to data visualization and executive dashboard technologies. Mr. Gudger is no stranger to producing innovative solutions. His business acumen and technological offerings have consistently enabled his clients to improve their return on investment by reducing costs, and improving economies of scale while maintaining a competitive edge in their respective market segments. Solvern Innovations now has several top researchers serving on its technology board of advisors. Additionally, Mr. Gudger is serving as program director for the National Security Agency National Cryptologic School, center for Business Management and Acquisition and a architect of the Cyber Exploitation training and Computer Network Operations development program.

Prior to 2003, Mr. Gudger worked as a financial advisor with Union Bank of Switzerland; the largest private bank in the world. Mr. Gudger graduated as one of the top trainees in his class and served as partner to the UBS Financial Services branch manager. Mr. Gudger currently serves as the Chief Investment Officer of Solvern Capital which have a 5 year return of more than 134%.

Mr. Gudger has received several awards to include the Inc. 500 Magazine has ranked Solvern Innovations #52 in the nation for fastest growing companies, #5 in government services, and #1 in Baltimore during 2008. Smart CEO magazine has awarded Mr. Gudger with the Smart CEO Future 50 CEO award for 2008. Mr. Gudger has received dozens of accolades and award recognitions throughout the country. He has been invited to give keynote speeches for the AT&T Alliance of Black Telecommunication Employees, Verizon Cite organization, Bell South's BNAT organization. He is currently serving on the boards of several foundations and non-profit organizations including; University of Maryland Baltimore County Presidents Advisory Council, Technology Development Corporation of Maryland HBCU/MI advisory board, Baltimore Choral Arts Society, Choralis, Paul Anthony Dillard Foundation (Howard University Divinity School), University of Maryland Baltimore County Alumni and Systems Engineering Boards, and University of North Carolina Center for Entrepreneurship.

Mr. Gudger recently completed a global MBA studying at top 5 Universities in their respective region of the world to include (China, Brazil, Mexico, Rotterdam, North Carolina), to include a residency in Poland. In addition, Mr. Gudger has been a guest lecturer at the New Jersey Institute of Technology and Princeton University-Dubois Scholars Institute.

Mr. Gudger's background in finance, national intelligence, and his Masters in Business Administration has allowed him to be a champion of educational opportunities and entrepreneurship. By the age of 28 Mr. Gudger had attended more than 7 colleges and universities and earned the respect of many educators throughout the world.

Member, Strategic Command Scientific Advisory Group (1995-2001)

Member, NATO Science Committee Advisory Panel on Disarmament Technologies (1993-1999).

Member, Defense Special Weapons Agency Oversight Board (1995-98)

Member, Senior Advisory Group on Theater Missile Defense, Institute of Foreign Policy Analysis, Cambridge, MA, (1993).

Member, National Academy of Science-Russian Academy of Science joint working group on dual-use technologies and export administration, (1992-93).

WORK EXPERIENCE

Director, Policy Planning Staff, National Nuclear Security Administration (2001-present)

I advise the NNSA Administrator, first Gen. John Gordon, then Amb. Linton Brooks and now Tom D'Agostino, on major policy and program decisions involving nuclear weapons and nuclear threat reduction. Among other things, I am responsible for analysis of program and policy options relating to NSC-directed policy reviews, the work of the Nuclear Weapons Council, external advisory boards, and interagency working groups. Of note, I have been "lead" for NNSA on the President's NSPD-4 Strategic Review, the Nuclear Posture Review and its implementation, the interagency working group that drafted a new Presidential Directive (NSPD-28) on the command and control of U.S. nuclear forces, and the analysis done to support the President's 2004 decision to reduce significantly the size of the U.S. nuclear weapons stockpile. In addition, I have led several "tiger team" efforts that cut across NNSA programmatic boundaries including Department of Energy-wide efforts to facilitate more productive engagement with the IAEA, to determine the disposition path for 200 metric tons of highly-enriched uranium made available from anticipated future warhead dismantlements and to address the problem of attributing nuclear terrorist threats.

Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense (Nuclear Forces and Missile Defense Policy) (1995-2001)

I ran the Department of Defense organization that oversees all aspects of U.S. policies governing U.S. strategic and theater nuclear forces. This effort included development of U.S. nuclear weapons employment policy, oversight of the SIOP, interactions with allies on nuclear weapons matters including serving on the NATO High Level Group, and direct participation in the programming and budgeting process for U.S. nuclear forces and systems for their command and control. I also served as the Secretary of Defense's principle advisor and point of contact with the Interagency and Congress on the Comprehensive Test Ban Treaty including the Senate ratification debate in October 1999. I developed and oversaw U.S. policies on national and theater missile defense, provided direction to system developers and users, and led U.S. efforts to provide shared early warning of ballistic missile attack to allies, friends and partners. Finally, I led the U.S. team negotiating with the Russian Federation to establish a jointly-manned ballistic missile early warning center; an agreement was reached in 2000 that was signed by both Presidents.

Director, Science Program, Stanford University CISAC (1989-1995)

As Director of the Science Program, I worked closely with CISAC Center Co-directors William Perry, Michael May and David Holloway in managing a broad technical research program involving both individual and collaborative work in national and international security studies. My research and writing focused on the following areas of U.S. security policy: the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction and advanced delivery systems to the developing world; safety and security of U.S. nuclear weapons systems; the potential for U.S.-Russian cooperation on missile launch detection, early warning and ballistic missile defense; advanced conventional weapons systems and their implications for regional security; the role in national security policy of export controls on weapons systems and dual-use, high-technology items; and U.S. defense restructuring. I lectured on these and related national security issues in the academic program at Stanford. In addition, I served on the NATO Science Committee's Advisory Panel on Disarmament Technologies which funds cooperative research in demilitarization and defense conversion between scientists and engineers in NATO countries and their colleagues in the states of the former Warsaw Pact.

Deputy Program Leader for START and INF Verification, LLNL (1988-1989)

My principle responsibility was to bring technical and policy analysis to bear in resolving key areas of contention in the START negotiations, both within the U.S. government and between the U.S. and the Soviet Union. My main focus was the problem of monitoring and verifying potential START limits on mobile systems, specifically sea-launched cruise missiles and mobile ICBMs. I worked closely with the research teams at Livermore developing new verification technologies (e.g. tags, seals, radiation detection and imaging devices) and assisted in providing guidance and direction to their efforts. In addition, I carried out research on survivable ICBM basing that included a technical assessment of the Carry Hard concept.

Project Manager for Advanced Strategic Missile Systems, LLNL (1985-1988)

I was principle LLNL point-of-contact for the military services, government agencies and contractors for all matters concerning nuclear weapons concepts for advanced ICBM and SLBM systems. I represented Livermore in the joint DoD/DOE weapons system concept and feasibility studies which determined requirements for nuclear warhead effectiveness, safety and security, compatibility with delivery systems, and use of special nuclear materials. Among other things, I:

- Led the LLNL project team that, in competition with Los Alamos, generated several nuclear warhead options for Small ICBM and assisted the Air Force in evaluating them. In November 1986, as a direct result of this effort, DOE assigned the Small ICBM warhead development program to Livermore.
- Coordinated Livermore's analytical efforts in two joint DoD/DOE nuclear weapons concept studies. One study addressed the potential utility of earth-penetrating warheads for targeting deep underground facilities. The other, in response to a directive from the President, examined two specific approaches for holding at risk Soviet strategic relocatable weapons systems.
- Served as project leader for studies addressing: the feasibility, cost effectiveness and military utility of MIRVing Small ICBM, and a safety issue associated with the Trident D-5 SLBM system.
- Assisted the panel commissioned by Larry Woodruff (DUSD(S&TNF)) and chaired by Gen. John Toomay, which examined the technical feasibility and maturity of survivable basing options for the Peacekeeper ICBM.

Staff Assistant for Strategic Assessments, Office of the Secretary of Defense, Strategic Arms Control Policy (1982-1985)

I was assigned, on loan from LLNL, to the Strategic Arms Control Policy Office in OSD where I examined technical and policy issues in support of START, both in the interagency deliberations in Washington and in the negotiations with the Soviets in Geneva. I drafted NSC decision papers on a number of issues including the potential utility of RV weight limits in START, telemetry encryption, ballistic missile "new types" limits, and the problem of mobile ICBM verification. In Summer 1983, I served with the U.S. START Delegation in Geneva as a technical advisor to the Secretary of Defense's Representative to the delegation. In addition, I developed options for raising U.S. concerns about Soviet treaty non-compliance in the U.S.-USSR Standing Consultative Commission (SCC). I helped develop the U.S. position and negotiating strategy on such issues as Soviet telemetry encryption, the SS-25 as a SALT II prohibited "new type" ICBM, the Krasnoyarsk radar and mobile ABM radars. Further, I was the OSD rep to the Fall 1984 and Spring 1985 sessions of the SCC in Geneva. There, I advised the U.S. Commissioner and assisted in developing negotiating tactics for raising compliance concerns with the Soviets, drafting statements for delivery at formal plenary sessions, engaging the Soviets in discussions about specific compliance concerns and mechanisms for their remedy, and preparing reporting cables to Washington summarizing the biweekly meetings. I led efforts to develop and organize the technical arguments responding to Soviet inquiries about specific U.S. treaty-related activities, including ABM systems testing, deployment of early warning radars, and ICBM dismantlement. Finally, I was a major contributor to the 1984 and 1985 Reports of the President to Congress on Soviet Noncompliance with Arms Control Agreements. In September 1985, at the conclusion of my tour in OSD, I was awarded the Secretary of Defense Medal for Outstanding Public Service.

Staff Physicist, Z-Division, LLNL (1978-1982)

I conducted intelligence assessments of the Soviet Union's nuclear weapons research, development, and production complex, and analyzed the nuclear weapon's radiation threat to U.S. military space systems. This work utilized all-source compartmented intelligence information. I published on several topics of interest to the intelligence and policy community including: (1) advanced Soviet nuclear weapons technologies such as capabilities for enhanced radiation warheads, (2) the nuclear ASAT threat, and (3) the Soviet nuclear weapons production complex.

Ph.D. Thesis Research, (1972-1977)

My Ph.D thesis research was in experimental elementary particle physics and was conducted as a member of the University of Rochester group working at the 10 GEV electron accelerator at Cornell University. Specifically, we made the first measurement of the radiative decay rates of certain neutral vector mesons. I participated in the design, construction, testing and calibration of a large experimental apparatus for measuring the energies and momenta of photons resulting from vector meson decays. In addition, I studied the efficiency and resolution of this apparatus using Monte Carlo computer simulation techniques and applied these results to the overall analysis of the experimental data.

PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

Senior Fellow, Center for Strategic and International Studies, August 2006-Present

- Directs and publishes analysis in the fields of defense policy and national security strategy. Recent projects include the following: Invigorating Defense Governance; the Future of US Civil Affairs Forces; Global Health and National Security; the CSIS Task Force on Non-Traditional Security Assistance; and the Project on National Security Reform.
- Lectures and participates in national security classes, workshops, seminars, and task forces at the request of the US Government, think tanks, and universities
- Provides timely, non-partisan analysis to print, radio, and television media outlets on national security issues, particularly with respect to the use of military forces, interagency reform, and Department of Defense management

Director for Strategy, Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Policy, May 2005-Aug 2006; Career SES

- Developed, planned, and oversaw a broad range of long-term defense policy planning efforts, including those related to security cooperation, global defense posture, and national and defense strategy development
- Directly advised the Principal Deputy Under Secretary of Defense and Under Secretary of Defense for Policy on strategy and policy planning issues
- Briefed senior US government officials, foreign counterparts, and congressional staff on Strategy/Policy Planning Office products and Department of Defense policy and strategy directions
- Managed day-to-day operations and performance assessment of 16-member office, including military, civilian, and contract personnel

Chief of Staff, QDR Roles, Missions and Organizations Integrated Process Team, June 2005-February 2006; Career SES

- Directed all QDR efforts relating to roles and missions issues, including oversight and integration of senior working groups relating to homeland defense, execution of the Global War on Terrorism, combating weapons of mass destruction, strategic communication, DoD headquarters reforms, and building partnership capacity
- Advised the Deputy Secretary of Defense, through regularized briefings, on recommended innovations to improve DoD headquarters and enterprise structures and processes
- Participated in senior leadership decision fora on QDR issues, authored and edited major sections of the 2005 QDR Report, and developed the QDR Roadmap for Building Partnership Capacity
- Managed day-to-day operations of 4-member office, including military and civilian personnel

Director, Strategic Planning and Program Integration, Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Homeland Defense, February 2004-April 2005; GS-15

- Oversaw development of all strategy, planning guidance, and policy directives relating to the Department of Defense's (DoD) full range of homeland defense and civil support activities
- Principal architect and author of DoD's first Homeland Defense and Civil Support Strategy
- Coordinated DoD plans with national-level homeland security guidance and responsible for influencing national strategy in accordance with the Secretary of Defense's priorities
- Developed initiatives with international and interagency partners to share expertise on homeland defense and civil support issues, improving national and coalition capabilities for these missions
- Managed day-to-day operations and performance assessments of 10-member office including military, civilian, and contract personnel

Deputy Director, Resources, Office of the Principal Deputy Under Secretary of Defense for Policy

September 2001- February 2004; Salary: GS-15

- Directed legislative affairs for the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Policy, including oversight of the Under Secretariat's reports to Congress, questions for the record, and expert briefings to members and staff
- Oversaw the drafting, coordination, and overall management of the Secretary of Defense's Defense Planning Guidance
- Conceived and authored planning direction for DoD on a wide range of defense issues, including homeland defense, active and passive defense against weapons of mass destruction, and priorities for defense capabilities analysis
- Directly advised the Principal Deputy Under Secretary of Defense for Policy on all matters relating to capabilities-based planning and joint military requirements processes

Office of the Secretary of Defense, Graduate Fellowship, September 1999- August 2001, GS-14

- Completed all pre-dissertation work toward doctorate in Political Science at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Awarded level of distinction in doctoral qualification examinations.
- Thesis research focuses on the causes of civilian leaders' preference for military solutions to emerging national security issues.

Assistant for Strategy Development, Office of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Strategy and Threat Reduction, January 1995 – August 1999; GS-12-GS-14

- Conducted DoD-wide examination of US force posture in Europe, including analysis of the security environment, regional defense strategy, and alternative US force postures
- Developed strategy and follow-on guidance for the 1997 Quadrennial Defense Review as well as for numerous Annual Defense Reports to the President and Congress, National Security Strategies, and internal DoD planning guidance documents
- Initiated the Office of the Secretary of Defense's first assessment of homeland defense roles and requirements

- Primary advisor to the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Strategy on issues relating to weapons of mass destruction and other asymmetric challenges
- Served as OSD staff liaison to the Hart-Rudman Commission on 21st Century Threats

Presidential Management Intern, Office of the Secretary of Defense, December 1993 – December 1995; GS-9-GS-11

- Undertook a series of six rotational assignments in the Office of the Secretary of Defense, Joint Staff, and Congressional Research Service to enhance understanding of DoD operations and related legislative issues.
- Assignments included development and ongoing analysis of US nuclear policy, oversight of defense relations with the nations of West Africa, development of a cross-Service approach to military strike missions, and management of DoD input to the President's National Security Strategy.

EMPLOYMENT EXPERIENCE

Air Force Scientific Advisory Board, (2008 – Present)

Serve as a member of a federal advisory committee that provides independent technical advice to senior U.S. Air Force leadership.

Defense Division General Manager, Sr. VP, Information Systems Laboratories, Vienna VA (2007 – Present)

Lead the largest sector within ISL and oversee five divisions that generate three-quarters of ISL's revenues. Report directly to the ISL CEO and serve as a member of the five-person Executive Management Group of the corporation. Responsible for all planning, project execution, business development and financial performance of the Defense Sector. Direct each of the sector's divisions in technology development efforts that span from research and development, systems engineering and integration to specialty manufacturing (which includes ISL-value added items in production of systems derived from research and development efforts).

Director, Strategic Technology Office, Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency, Arlington VA (2006 – 2007)

Selected by the DARPA Director to merge the Advanced Technology and Special Project Offices and form the Strategic Technology Office, creating DARPA's largest office. Led the development of technologies that enable US Forces to have theatre-wide and global impact and dominate the new strategic environment. Guided systems development in a wide range of operational environments to include undersea warfare, ground forces, tactical air operations, and space systems. Directed the office's annual $25M venture investment activity. Oversaw the management and execution of over 70 major programs and execute an annual budget of $550M. Competitively won new R&D funding that grew the office budget by $200M in one year.

- My team demonstrated an integrated hardware-software solution that provides orders of magnitude acceleration of data transport across the Internet

- We finished transition of a “smart building” technology development project that enables buildings to protect themselves against chem-bio attacks
- My government-contractor team successfully demonstrated in the field an automated spectrum allocation technology that enabled us to secure follow-on funding for insertion of this product into our customer’s RF networks
- We successfully established two new alternative energy programs for US Forces, one in solar cells and the other in bio-fuels for military aircraft
- My team demonstrated the world’s first synthetic aperture imaging system using a laser (rather than radar) as the illuminator, substantially improving resolution
- Led my new team in developing several new partnerships for product development and transition with the Combatant Commanders and the Services
 - My team created and transitioned several new products through formal agreements with the Commander of Special Operations Command, some of which went directly into combat operations
 - We established eighteen new co-funded Memorandums of Agreement (MOA) with service partners for tech transfer
- Directed the development and field demonstration of the Department of Defense’s (DOD) first interoperable, mobile tactical network
 - Led a team of government program managers, contractors and customers in this $80M project
 - We delivered an affordable solution (cheaper by greater than a factor of 4) for nearly 1 million legacy systems 2 years ahead of the competition

Director, Advanced Technology Office, Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency, Arlington VA (2002 – 2006)

Led an office of 20 program managers developing leap-ahead capabilities in networks, communications, network centric warfare applications, information assurance, sensor systems, maritime technology and systems for Special Forces. Guided the development of novel ideas in physics, chemistry, biology, materials science, information technology, radio and optical based networks that will revolutionize the operational capabilities of U.S. warfighters. Built and maintained business relationships with new and existing customers for the establishment of co-funded technology transfer agreements. Developed future-year funding requirements, managed execution through detailed technical and administrative program reviews and evaluations, established technical priorities and allocated funds accordingly. Recruited, trained and supervised a diverse team of technical program managers, business operations personnel, and administrative staff. Directed the office’s annual $15M venture investment activity. Oversaw the management and execution of 35 major programs and grew the annual budget from $200M to $320M.

- Rallied my new office to develop and adopt better methods for creating and selling research programs, which led us to the number one position for new start projects
- Led a team of program managers to create and implement DARPA’s “Heterogeneous Networking” R&D strategy, which has now been adopted by senior DOD leadership
 - Expanded the narrowly focused physical layer program to encompass the development of new network management products and user applications

- Successfully conducted far reaching field demonstrations of leap-ahead tactical network capabilities that won customer buy-in and tech transfer
- Guided the development of a new set of DOD-focused information assurance products, giving US forces a decisive edge in Network Centric Warfare
- My team finalized the transition to the US Army of DOD's most ambitious and technologically advanced distributed collaboration software tool for tactical forces, a tool which was successfully combat tested and has now been adopted by the Services
- We refocused DARPA's maritime thrust to develop new products in support of littoral operations and convinced the Navy to then invest $50M in our new program
- We collaborated with the Commander of Joint Forces Command (JFCOM) and his staff to initiate the Integrated Battle Command research program and transitioned products to the field.

Deputy Director, Microsystems Technology Office, Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency, Arlington VA (2000-2002)

Deputy Director of the DARPA component and sub-systems office in charge of developing novel approaches and applications for heterogeneous chip-scale integration. Directed the office's annual $10M venture investment activity. Coordinated cross-office research projects and assisted the office director in execution of the $300M annual office budget.

- Led the photonics technical area on behalf of the Office Director and assisted in identifying high payoff DOD investments in micro-electronics, photonics, and micro-electromechanical systems (MEMS).
- Created DARPA's "All Optical Internet" R&D strategy.
- Organized and led a team of program managers that built a systems driven investment strategy that was successfully used to identify and create new products for our customers.

Member of the Technical Staff (On loan to DARPA), Lincoln Laboratory, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Arlington VA (1999-2000)

Served as a Program Manager in DARPA's Microsystems Technical Office. Responsible for development of photonics technologies for military systems. Manager of Steered Agile Beams, RF Lightwave Integrated Circuits, University Opto Centers programs. Started the Chip Scale WDM program. Initiated DOD's largest integrated optics chip-scale development program to enable replacement of bulky electronics modules with smaller, lighter, and more energy efficient photonic components. Managed $145M in R&D programs.

- Led a $60M co-funded government-contractor consortium that developed a commercially successful high-speed fiberoptic transceiver
 - Focused the four teams on developing components that allowed the goals of both commercial and military customers to be satisfied
 - Final product achieved strong demand in two unrelated markets – local area networks and military avionics 2 years ahead of the competition

Program Manager, Microsystems Technology Office, (Lt Col, United States Air Force (USAF)), Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency, Arlington VA (1997-2000)
Responsible for development of photonics technologies for military systems. Created the Steered Agile Beams program. Program Manager of the Optical Micro Networks Program. Created a new R&D program to develop very compact components for rapidly and precisely steering laser beams across distances of at least 50km. Led a DOD-industry co-funded optical transceiver program which brought to market the first high speed vertical cavity laser module. Directed development of in-flight test pod for fiberoptic link components. Managed $100M in programs.

Chief, Intelligence, Surveillance & Reconnaissance Branch, (Lt Col, USAF). Electronic Systems Center (USAF), Hanscom Air Force Base, Lexington MA (1994-1997)
Responsible for technology development planning for Intelligence, Surveillance and Reconnaissance systems, and for coordinating R&D activities with other mission areas. Produced USAF's first-ever ISR Development Plan linking S&T with high priority operational user needs. Led a team of 15 military and civilian employees with an annual budget of $3M.

Chief, Photonics Development, (Major, USAF), USAF Photonics Center, Rome Air Force Base, Rome NY (1992-1994)
Responsible for photonics technology development planning for electro-optical systems development. Established optical interconnects research program. Trained research staff in nanofabrication techniques. Built from scratch a new laboratory experimental program to use optical interconnects to replace electrical connections in order to solve an anticipated data transport bottleneck in high performance computers in military weapons systems. Within two years the effort grew to include five fulltime in-house researchers and three outsourced R&D projects, with an annual budget of $700K.

Photonics Technology Program Manager, (Capt, USAF), USAF Photonics Center, Rome Air Force Base, Rome NY (1990-1992)
Responsible for photonics technology program and project execution. Designed, fabricated, and evaluated novel lasers, detectors, waveguides and components for high speed optical data transport. Managed an annual budget of $200K.

US Air Force, Graduate Student (Air Force Institute of Technology (1988-1989)), FB-111A Pilot & Instructor Pilot (1984-1988), B-52D/H Pilot (1980-1984), Pilot Training (1979-1980), Officer Training School (1978-1979)

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Brookings Institution
1775 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C., 20036

Visiting Fellow: Co-leader of the "US Policy Toward a Cuban Transition" project

- Responsible for carrying out the Cuba project that is designed to provide recommendations for USG policy makers on approaches that would most effectively promote a democratic, economic viable, and stable Cuba. I am assisted by the co-leader of the project, Brookings' Vice President Carlos Pascual, and a group of the leading academics, experts, and opinion leaders on Cuba. Over a 18 month period the advisors will participate in six simulations and discussions – the first on February 7, 2008 and the last in February 5, 2009 – that we have designed to help the group to identify key decision points and preferred policy options. The results of the simulations as well as recommendation of the Core Group will be published by Brookings as a monograph or book. The project also includes a series of public conference on Cuba and briefings to legislators and the executive branch.

U.S. Department of State:

Acting Ambassador, American Embassy, Ethiopia

- Managed one of the largest U.S. embassies in Africa during a major political crisis
- Led the international community in helping the government and opposition restart a democratic process, including the release of thousands of detainees and agreement on new parliamentary rules
- Organized a forum for national debate on Ethiopia's future and a women's group and mini-fair to empower women

- Set up the new U.S. mission to the African Union and reopened the country Peace Corps program

Ambassador to the Republic of Mali

- Expanded American assistance in northern Mali where terrorist groups threatened stability
- Guided the government in developing a $500 million millennium challenge grant
- Initiated construction of a new chancery complex

Chief of Mission/Principal Officer, United States Interests Section, Cuba

- Created an outreach program to empower Cubans by providing books, radios and internet access
- Led a new approach to USG policy that resulted in political space for human rights activists and entrepreneurs

Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs

- Provided policy and management support to 16 embassies in West and Central Africa
- Led efforts to end the civil war in Sierra Leone
- Evacuated six embassies as a result of terrorist threats and internal violence

Ambassador to the Republic of Madagascar

- Contributed to peaceful elections after the impeachment of the president
- Promoted environmental conservation throughout the island resulting in the creation of a major new national park

Deputy Chief of Mission, American Embassy, Haiti

Managed the embassy's relationship with the U.S. and multinational forces deployed to restore democracy

Deputy Director and Director of the Office of the Coordinator of Cuban Affairs
Desk Officer for Bolivia

Economic Officer, American Embassy, Mali

Summary

Skilled professional with expertise on a broad range of defense budget, policy, and organizational issues; an in-depth knowledge of federal acquisition; and management experience

Professional Experience

Professional Staff Member, House Armed Services Committee, 2005 – present

- ◆ Supervise committee's policy staff on full committee issues including two ongoing wars and other operations overseas, oversight of combatant commanders, departmental organization and management, nonproliferation, and acquisition policy
- ◆ Manage issue portfolio including acquisition policy, industrial base policy, foreign military sales, and technology controls
- ◆ Lead staff support to committee's Panel on Defense Acquisition Reform.

Appropriations Associate, Representative Norman D. Dicks (WA-06), 1999 – 2005

- ◆ Advanced Representative Dicks' interests, including tanker recapitalization, bomber modernization, housing privatization, and defense budget advocacy, as associate committee staff for the Defense and Military Construction Appropriations subcommittees
- ◆ Assisted Representative Dicks on the National Commission for the Review of the National Reconnaissance Office, 2000

Professional Staff Member, Select Committee on U.S. National Security and Military/Commercial Concerns with the People's Republic of China, 1998 – 1999

- ◆ Led investigation of high performance computers for minority staff and served as a key minority team member reviewing losses of nuclear weapons data and satellite technologies

Military Legislative Assistant and Legislative Director, Representative John M. Spratt, Jr. (SC-05), 1994-1999

- ◆ Managed increasing responsibilities culminating in promotion to Legislative Director in 1998
- ◆ Advanced Representatives Spratt's interests on the House Armed Services Committee including oversight of the nuclear weapons complex and the Savannah River Plant, promotion of nuclear nonproliferation programs, and advocacy for theater missile defense programs
- ◆ Developed and implemented strategies on major trade legislation for House Textile Caucus
- ◆ Managed broad portfolio of domestic issues including agriculture, energy, the environment, education, and crime

Major Legislative Accomplishments

Acquisition Policy

- ◆ Major author of the Weapon Systems Acquisition Reform Act of 2009 which builds capabilities for knowledge-based acquisition, requires increased oversight of major defense acquisition programs in early stages, limits contractor conflicts of interest, and requires trade-offs between cost, schedule, and performance objectives throughout the acquisition process.
- ◆ Major author of the Clean Contracting Act of 2008, which expands several defense acquisition reforms to civilian agencies, and related legislation which requires a review of using federal cost accounting standards on overseas contracts and of defense contractors use of off-shore subsidiaries

- ◆ Major author of the Acquisition Accountability and Improvement Act of 2007 which requires a comprehensive memorandum of understanding between DOD, State, & USAID on roles and responsibilities for contracts in Iraq and Afghanistan, revises the definition of commercial services, and includes multiple provisions increasing competition in defense contracting and improving the acquisition workforce.
- ◆ Devised authorization for DOD's Panel on Contracting Integrity to find and eliminate vulnerabilities in contracting enacted in FY06 National Defense Authorization Act and promoted legislation expanding participation in a pilot program for management of the acquisition workforce enacted in FY98 National Defense Authorization Act

Budget

- ◆ Analyzed implications of conversion of Puget Sound Naval Shipyard from a working capital fund activity to mission funding and consolidation of the shipyard with the Intermediate Maintenance Facility at Subase Bangor
- ◆ Developed budget presentation on the adequacy of funding for defense procurement accounts
- ◆ Promoted conversion of 4 SSBN submarines to SSGN for land attack capability and support of SOF operations resulting in addition of $279 million for advanced procurement of 2 additional SSGNs in the FY02 Defense Appropriations Act
- ◆ Promoted authorization for multi-year procurement of tanker replacement aircraft

Defense Policy & Organization

- ◆ Authored legislation requiring a quadrennial roles & missions review to identify and assign DOD's core missions; legislation included revisions to the Joint Requirements Oversight Council process to require consideration of resource limitations and setting of priorities in establishing military requirements
- ◆ Forged bipartisan consensus in House leading to enactment of legislation establishing a Chief Management Officer for DOD
- ◆ Devised authorization for a Defense Materiel Readiness Board to establish requirements and provide funding for the refit of active and reserve units suffering from equipment shortfalls
- ◆ Advocated provision enacted in FY04 Defense Appropriations Act (and included in subsequent fiscal years) requiring opportunity for federal employees to offer most efficient organization bid for A-76 competitions involving elements of DOD and mandating savings in excess of 10% before converting work to contractor performance

Management

- ◆ Supervised the organization and preparation of more than 70 full committee hearings and more than 70 full committee member briefings including more than 25 events providing oversight on the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan
- ◆ Supervised the production of legislation and report language for policy titles of three National Defense Authorization Acts
- ◆ Organized 12 hearings and 2 briefings of the Panel on Defense Acquisition Reform providing a comprehensive examination of the defense acquisition system

Education

- ◆ Johns Hopkins University, Master of Arts in Applied Economics, 2001
- ◆ Harvard University, Bachelor of Arts in Social Studies, cum laude, 1994

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Williams & Connolly LLP, Partner (1987-2000; 2001-present; Partner since 1995)

Experience in complex civil and criminal litigation:

- Civil litigation experience encompasses diverse array of complex cases involving women's health (contraception, menopause, diseases of aging), pharmaceutical products liability, the False Claims Act, the design of military aircraft engines, challenges to the administration of federal statutes, and others – in the context of federal and state court (including multi-state) litigation, and class actions.
- Most recently, led team of over 25 attorneys, from different law firms, responsible for development of scientific themes, arguments and experts for defense of nationwide litigation of more than 5,000 cases alleging that hormone replacement therapy caused breast and other cancers, heart attacks and strokes, and that company failed to adequately warn of the risks, test the product, and explore alternate designs. Played key role in several trials, as well as various Daubert/Frye hearings and scientific presentations in state and federal court.
- Criminal defense experience includes tax fraud, false statements, antitrust violations, and product adulteration.

Pro Bono experience:

- Led revision of firm's pro bono program, serving as Chair (and now member) of Pro Bono Committee; oversaw work on cases involving mental health, constitutional tort, political asylum, Federal Tort Claims Act, Americans with Disabilities Act, and other issues.

U.S. Department of Justice (Torts Branch), Deputy Assistant Attorney General (2000-2001)

Led 200-person branch of Justice Department charged with defending tort suits filed against the United States and individual federal agents:

- Litigation Duties: Supervised cases involving constitutional, common law, environmental, aviation and admiralty claims. Managed civil suit arising from the stand-off between Branch Davidians and the Federal Bureau of Investigation outside Waco, Texas in 1993 – a suit that we successfully defended at trial.
- Legislative Duties: Testified before Congress concerning proposed legislative changes to the Federal Tort Claims Act and Federal Employees' Compensation Act; oversaw two statutory compensation programs; served as Justice Department representative on interagency task force to develop compensation legislation following "controlled burn" initiated by Interior Department in Los Alamos, New Mexico, in May 2000.
- Served one month as Acting Deputy Assistant Attorney General, Office of Immigration Litigation, supervising federal court litigation under the Immigration and Nationality Act, and related statutes.

The Honorable Harrison L. Winter, Chief Judge, U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit, Judicial Clerk (1986-1987)

VOLUNTEER WORK FOR OBAMA CAMPAIGN (2007-2008)

- Led teams of volunteers undertaking confidential research, strategic analysis and drafting of memoranda and pleadings. (Contact David Ogden, Robert Bauer or William Taylor for details).
- Deputy for the Election/Post-Election Litigation Team (EPELT) for one of the battleground states. Managed the preparation of research, analysis and pleadings for potential post-election litigation. (Contact David Kendall, David Ogden or Robert Bauer for details).
- Led teams of volunteers undertaking confidential research, strategic analysis and drafting of memoranda re various issues. (Contact Gregory Craig for details).

- Managed team of Williams & Connolly LLP volunteers providing a variety of legal research support to campaign voter protection efforts (February 2008 – October 2008).
- Fundraising (May 2007 – November 2008); canvassing in Delaware and Virginia (prior to the primary elections).

VOLUNTEER WORK FOR KERRY CAMPAIGN (2004)

- Served on post-election litigation team for several battleground states. Managed the preparation of research, analysis and pleadings for potential post-election litigation. (Contact David Kendall, David Ogden or Robert Bauer for details).
- Managed team of Williams & Connolly LLP volunteers providing a variety of legal research support to campaign voter protection efforts (July 2004 – October 2004).

Brett B. Lambert

Managing Director, Civitas Group llc, Managing Partner, The Densmore Group, LLC

Brett B. Lambert joined the Civitas Group in 2008 as a Managing Director. In this role he provides strategic advisory services for companies operating in the intelligence, homeland defense, and national security sectors. Mr. Lambert is also the founder and Managing Partner of The Densmore Group, LLC, a merger and acquisition advisory firm specializing in the intelligence and national security markets.

From 1989 until 2007, Mr. Lambert held positions of increasing responsibility at DFI International, a national security consultancy he built with founder Dr. Barry Blechman. Under Mr. Lambert's leadership, DFI grew from two to nearly 250 employees. Mr. Lambert assisted in the sale of DFI to Detica PLC in 2007; DFI/Detica was subsequently acquired by BAE Systems in 2008.

At the conclusion of his tenure with DFI, Mr. Lambert held the titles of Executive Vice President of DFI International and Managing Director of DFI Investment Partners. He was also the company's Ethics Officer, served as a member of the Board of Directors and was one of two shareholders. While at DFI, Mr. Lambert held a Top Secret clearance.

In addition to assisting the President and founder in day to day operational responsibilities, Mr. Lambert specialized in technology assessments, strategic planning, and market analyses for defense, intelligence, and space companies. His engagements assisted client's identification and quantification of new or evolving markets, described the political and business environments in which they operated, and provided execution guidance to ensure the implementation of successful ventures. Mr. Lambert also worked closely with a number of leading venture funds, merchant banks, and private equity firms in support of their national security portfolio companies.

While with DFI, Mr. Lambert also led the company's work with first-tier defense firms, financial institutions, and private equity organizations in merger and acquisition market advisory services. Throughout his time with DFI, Mr. Lambert was engaged in over a hundred acquisitions, international joint ventures, offset arrangements, and foreign equity investments representing a wide variety of both buyers and sellers in the national security space. These engagements ranged in closing value from as little as $1 million to as much as $28 billion.

He is frequently asked for expert comment on the defense industry from a wide variety of news organizations, including The Washington Post, The New York Times, The Financial Times, Defense News, Space News, and Bloomberg News Service. He is also a frequent commentator on the Nightly Business Report (PBS), MSNBC, and Bloomberg television.

Before joining DFI, Mr. Lambert worked for the US Department of State (USAID) at the American Embassy in New Delhi (1987 - 1988). Prior to this, he attended graduate school at Jawaharlal Nehru University on a Rotary Graduate Scholarship he received during his senior year at Kansas State University (1982-1986). He also worked as an independent journalist in India, Pakistan and Burma. Before his time in Asia, Mr. Lambert served in the Political-Military Group at the Center for Strategic and International Studies.

Mr. Lambert currently serves on the Board of Formtek Inc. He also currently serves as a Senior Fellow at the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) and is lifetime member of the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR).

Highly qualified "C-Suite" professional with extensive international, military, business and strategic planning experience. Adapts easily to vibrant environments with a clear and mature approach to resolving the most critical and urgent issues. Possesses a proven ability to navigate complex and sensitive issues to ensure mission accomplishment. An easy going and cooperative demeanor that belies exceptionally strong leadership and team building skills built on 21 years as a Special Operations Officer assigned to various Areas of Operation around the world.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations

August 2010 - Present

EDUCATION

- B.A. cum laude, Dartmouth College, 1991
- M.A., The Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy—Tufts/Harvard University, 1993
- Classified training courses on nuclear weapons and ballistic missile technology, Department of Energy and Central Intelligence Agency, 1992-1993

HIGHLIGHTS

- More than 14 years of experience designing, conducting, and analyzing wargames for, and providing senior-level analytic support to, the Department of Defense (DoD). Lead analyst on over 40 wargames and numerous studies focused on special operations, irregular warfare, conventional operations in high-end threat environments, and strategic deterrence and warfare.
- Recently completed a series of four portfolio-rebalancing exercises for the Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD) to examine how the joint force might be shaped, sized, and postured over the next 20 years to better address emerging national security challenges. Analyzed tradeoffs among competing investments/divestments in research and development, force structure, procurement, basing, and training and education.
- Authored Special Operations Forces—Future Challenges and Opportunities (2008), which has received senior-level attention within US Special Operations Command and prompted an invitation to testify before the House Armed Services Subcommittee on Terrorism, Unconventional Threats and Capabilities in March 2009.
- Authored The Global War on Terrorism: An Assessment (2007), which was highlighted by the Council on Foreign Relations as a “must read” and briefed to senior staffers from relevant committees of the US House of Representatives and US Senate.
- Co-authored with Michael G. Vickers two classified monographs on transformation strategy that were circulated widely among senior OSD officials in preparation for the Quadrennial Defense Reviews in 2001 and 2006.
- Member of the CSBA-led “red team” assessment of the 2006 QDR, which combined the expertise of CSBA staff with the professional judgment and expertise of retired flag-rank officers to provide an independent, alternative examination of the issues raised in the review.

CURRENT POSITION

Deputy Vice President for Strategic Studies, Center for Strategic and Budgetary Assessments (CSBA), Washington, DC

- Since February 1997, responsible for carrying out a broad research program on defense strategy and planning, military modernization, and future warfare for government, foundation, and corporate clients. Assumed management of CSBA’s wargaming program, which includes approximately 12 major activities per year, in 2007.
- Designed and developed the Pacific Vision 2008 wargame for US Pacific Air Forces (PACAF), which has been highly acclaimed by the Commander PACAF and Commander US Pacific Command.

- Conducted a series of four SOCOM-hosted wargames on special operations: two focused on strategy for the war on terrorism and its implications for the composition, size, and regional orientation of US special operations forces; and two focused on unconventional warfare.
- Played a key role in designing and developing four OSD-sponsored wargames in 2007-2008 on stability operations, partner capacity building, counter-insurgency, and irregular warfare more broadly.
- Collaborated closely with Michael G. Vickers on a now-classified report for OSD in 2006 that focused on capabilities and capacities for defeating Salafi-Takfiri/Khomeinist terrorist groups, as well as for hedging against the potential rise of China as a military competitor. Co-led a 2002-2003 CSBA study effort, commissioned by the Deputy Secretary of Defense, focused on the development of a long-term strategy for prevailing in the Global War on Terrorism. Served on a 2001 summer study that examined sources of US military advantage for the Under Secretary of Defense for Policy.
- Co-authored several CSBA monographs with Michael G. Vickers, including the The Revolution in War (2004), which detailed the origins of the revolution in military affairs, examined key technological trends, and projected how the conduct of war may change over the next two decades; and The Future of Intrastate Conflict (1997), which examined potential changes in the character, duration, intensity, and international political consequences of intrastate conflict.
- Consultant to the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA) since 2001.

PREVIOUS EXPERIENCE

November 1993-February 1997, Science Applications International Corporation, McLean, VA

- Worked on contracts for OSD, the Central Intelligence Agency, and the Department of Energy. Primary responsibility was developing, conducting, and analyzing future warfare wargames. Directed a research project that examined the potential implications of the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction (WMD) on the power-projection capabilities of US military forces.
- Provided analytic and research support to the Intelligence Community on a range of topics and contributed to the development of a computerized tool for modeling and analyzing complex networks.

May-August 1992/May-November 1993, Intern/Action Officer, US Department of State, Washington, DC

- Worked in the Office of Weapons Proliferation on missile technology counter-proliferation. Served as a special assistant to the chairman of the interagency Missile Technology Export Control (MTEC) group. Responsible for obtaining missile technology end-use assurances from foreign governments, drafting US government demarches to countries of missile proliferation concern, working with the Intelligence Community to uncover proliferation activity, coordinating interdiction efforts with friendly governments, and conducting diplomatic information exchange with the partner countries of the Missile Technology Control Regime (MTCR).
- Contributed to the formulation of US export control policy on space launch vehicle technology. Conducted special research projects at the personal request of the Assistant Secretary of State for Political-Military Affairs.

Austin, TX 78763-5218

Number of Employees: ~25,000

(b)(6)

Hours: 60/week

Annual Budget: $600M

Duties and Accomplishments:

As Commander of the Texas Military Forces and Adjutant General for the State of Texas, I am responsible to the Governor of Texas for providing ready trained forces of the Texas Army Guard, the Texas Air Guard, the Texas State Guard, and the Adjutant General's Department, better known as the Texas Military Forces, in support of state operations. I am also responsible to the President of the United States for providing ready trained forces of the Texas Army Guard and the Texas Air Guard in support of federal missions. I am responsible for the readiness, training, health and welfare of approximately 25,000 military service members, federal technicians, and state employees and a budget in excess of $600 million.

Since appointed as Adjutant General of the Texas Military Forces in April 2009 we have deployed approximately 5,000 (over 12,000 since August 2007) service members to Operations Iraqi Freedom and Enduring Freedom in the US Central Command Area of Focus and supported additional missions in the US Southern Command, US Pacific Command and US European Command Areas of Focus. We formalized a new State Partnership with the Republic of Chile in 2009, continued the existing State Partnership with the Czech Republic, conducted over 50 military-to-military engagements with each country, and trained numerous CH-47 Chinook pilots of the Singapore Air Force through Operation Peace Prairie. In addition to the continuous counterdrug support to federal agencies with our Joint Counterdrug Task Force, we deployed 286 personnel out of 1,200 personnel authorized by the US President to support DHS's Customs and Border Protection agents in securing the US/Mexico border and which our personnel have been attributed with the seizure of over 3,600 lbs of drugs and the apprehension of over 600 illegal immigrants to date. The Texas Military Forces have provided over 45,000 person-days of Defense Support to Civil Authorities (DSCA) during State emergencies for hurricane, flood, wildfire and ice storm support. Texas State Guard personnel provided invaluable support to the State by planning, coordinating and executing, in conjunction with the Department of State Health Services, the largest humanitarian assistance exercise in the nation by providing over 55,000 medical services to approximately 13,000 uninsured Texas residents along the Lower Rio Grande Valley each year in 2009 and 2010. I resourced Texas's Chemical, Biological, Radiological, Nuclear, and Explosive (CBRNE) Enhanced Response Force Package (CERFP) for success and validated it as capable of responding to a CBRNE event for the first time since its inception in 2005. Texas's Civil Support Team continued its validation as a first response force capable of identifying hazardous substances during an emergency event. Through Texas's National Guard Challenge Program, we graduated approximately 400 at-risk youths with a high school diploma. These at-risk youths have dramatically changed their lives and have gone on to lead productive lives to include service in the armed forces. I worked with staff to develop the first ever Joint Strategic Plan with the vision and value-based metrics to poise the Texas Military Forces for success for the next 20 years. We competed in the Army's Community of Excellence Program and attained 1st and 2nd Place in the Gold Division in 2010 and 2011, respectively.

August 2007 – April 2009

Commanding General

36th Infantry Division

P.O. Box 5218

Austin, TX 78763-5218

Number of Employees: ~15,000

(b)(6)

Hours: 60/week

Annual Budget: $400M

Duties and Accomplishments:

As the Commanding General for the division, I commanded and controlled (C2) over 15,000 soldiers in the division's headquarters and seven major subordinate commands and administered a budget of approximately $400 million. I served as the principal advisor to the Adjutant General of the Texas Military Forces on employment of the division on state and federal missions. I trained and prepared forces for deployment to Operation Iraqi Freedom and Operation Enduring Freedom. During fiscal years 2008 and 2009 we deployed over 7,500 soldiers on these two federal missions. The division also provided approximately 115,000 person-days of state and federal active duty to provide humanitarian assistance and disaster relief during hurricanes Dolly, Eduard, Gustav, and Ike and year round DSCA for floods and wildfires. I had C2 of the support to the Customs and Border Protection along the US/Mexico border during Operation Jump Start through July 2008. In preparation for a potential deployment of the division headquarters, I served as the Combined Force Land Component Command (CFLCC) Commander in Honduras to US Southern Command's 2008 PANAMAX Exercise—a 20 nation Air, Land, and Sea exercise in the defense of the Panama Canal.

September 2005 – August 2007
Deputy Commanding General
U.S. Army South
2450 Stanley Road, Suite 700
Ft. Sam Houston, TX 78234
Number of Employees: 577

(b)(6)

Hours: 60/week
Annual Budget: $160M

Duties and Accomplishments:

As Deputy Commanding General (DCG) I was the principal assistant to the Commanding General (CG), US Army South for matters concerning the Command's support to forces throughout the US Southern Command's Theater of Operations, property maintenance and accountability, force and equipment readiness and deployability, budget administration, and reserve component related functions. I assisted the CG in overseeing 577 soldiers and civilian employees assigned to the Headquarters, approximately 2,500 total soldiers and civilians within the Area of Focus (AOF), 3 Forward Operating Sites, 2 forward deployed Joint Task Forces, and 26 Security Assistance Offices in 32 countries. I assisted the CG in administering a total annual budget of $160 million. I coordinated support requirements for the Forward Operating Site in Colombia, Joint Task Force-Guantanamo in Cuba, and Joint Task Force-Bravo in Honduras.

I was responsible for prioritizing over 600 US Army South engagements IAW US Southern Command's Theater Security Cooperation (TSC) Strategy. I assisted the CG in conducting TSC engagements and activities, which promoted regional stability and democratic values; supported the Regional War on Terrorism; and supported contingency operations and disaster relief/humanitarian assistance missions throughout the AOF. In the absence of the Commanding General, I assumed command of US Army South. I was responsible for day-to-day activities of the Main Command Post during the deployment of Operational Command Post. I served as the Co-Director for the Peace Keeping Operations Exercise in Guatemala in June 2006 and in Ecuador in 2007. I served as the CFLCC Commander in Honduras to US Southern Command's 2007 PANAMAX Exercise. I assisted the CG in overseeing the planning and execution of medical assistance exercises and school, clinic, water well, and road construction projects in the poor rural areas of our partner nations within the AOF. I interfaced with international officers from Latin America and assisted the CG in developing regional capabilities of our partner nations for response to regional problems. I served as the General Officer representing the Chief of Staff of the Army at funerals of soldiers killed in action in Operations Iraqi Freedom and Enduring Freedom. I coordinated the increased participation and support of Army National Guard and Army Reserve soldiers to US Southern Command's and US Army South's exercises, operations, and missions within the AOF. I coordinated the Command's efforts to effectively execute 100% of its $160 million budget. I conducted numerous press conferences and live interviews, primarily in Spanish, within the AOF.

November 1991 – September 2005
Assistant Director, Oil & Gas Division, Field Operations
Railroad Commission of Texas
1701 N. Congress
Austin, TX 78711
Number of Employees: 237

(b)(6)

Hours: 45-50/week
Annual Budget: $20M

Duties and Accomplishments:

I was responsible for administering the Commission's Well Plugging Program, which had an annual well plugging budget of approximately $6 to $8 million to plug between 1,300 to 1,600 oil and gas wells per year and I was responsible for overall field operations of the Commission's 9 district offices with a total budget of approximately $20 million per year including the well plugging budget. I was responsible for a staff of 9 personnel in Austin and 228 personnel in the 9 district offices. My duties and responsibilities included 1.) effectively and efficiently administering the Commission's Well Plugging Program through the development of detailed program procedures including a well plugging priority system, an enforcement case versus state-funded well plugging decision matrix, and well plugging cost estimate tables to predict future costs and potential well plugging liability; 2.) protecting the State's surface and subsurface water resources, protecting mineral interest owners's correlative rights, and promoting public safety through the enforcement of the Commission's rules and regulations and the activities of the 9 district offices; and 3.) developing the Oil and Gas Division, Field Operations Section Strategic Plans, Legislative Appropriations Requests, Annual Budgets, Annual Oil Field Cleanup Fund Activity Reports, Quarterly and Annual Performance Measure Reports, and Monthly Statistical Reports that were submitted to the Commission, the Legislative Budget Board, and the Governor's Office. Over a fourteen year period, I was responsible for the proper plugging of over 20,000 inactive or abandoned oil and gas wells in the State of Texas to include approximately 200 bay and offshore wells—more than any oil and gas company. During the Legislative Session, I conducted bill analyses to determine the impact on Commission operations, provided input to fiscal notes, proposed legislation that enhanced our ability to conduct our mission more effectively and efficiently, and provided testimony to House and Senate Committees. I routinely made public presentations on the Commission's rules and regulations and on the Commission's Well Plugging Program to various groups including oil and gas associations and government officials from foreign nations.

September 1983 – October 1991
Director, Abilene District Office
Railroad Commission of Texas
1701 N. Congress
Austin, TX 78711
Number of Employees: 21-27

(b)(6)

Hours: 40/week
Annual Budget: $2M

Duties and Accomplishments:

I had overall responsibility of district operations and the oil and gas industry compliance with Commission rules. I supervised and managed a staff of 21 - 27 employees consisting of engineers, geologists, engineering specialists and technicians, and administrative personnel. My duties and responsibilities included resolving compliance issues with the oil and gas industry and recommending enforcement action to the Office of General Counsel when compliance was not achieved. They also included conducting and approving oil and gas production tests, approving well plugging procedures and reports, approving dual well completion reports, approving alternate casing programs for wells drilled without surface casing, proposing solutions to well blowouts and complicated industry well plugging operations, and writing reports on complicated water well complaints and water quality issues. A significant part of my duties and responsibilities also included the administration of the Abilene District's Well Plugging Program. This process involved making recommendations for plugging with State funds, soliciting bids, evaluating the bids, awarding the contracts, coordinating and witnessing the well plugging operations, approving the well plugging invoices, and preparing vouchers and well plugging summary reports. I was responsible for all administrative actions regarding hiring, dismissal, disciplinary action, merit increase, promotion, and employee performance evaluation as well as responsible for all operational and logistical actions regarding personnel training, vehicle and equipment accountability and maintenance, and capital equipment procurement and expenditures.

Number of Employees: 35 (Plt Ldr), 5-7 (Section Chief)

(b)(6)

Salary: $25,000.00/year
Hours: 40/week

Duties and Accomplishments:

As a Platoon Leader of B Company, 11th Engineer Battalion, I was responsible for support of the US Army Engineer School. I supervised a platoon of 35 soldiers, including 5 first line supervisors, and accounted for over $1,000,000 of construction tools, equipment, and vehicles. I conducted the design review, bill of materials preparation, detailed drawing preparation, and construction supervision, to include quality control, of post construction projects. I used the Critical Path Method (CPM) construction technique to monitor the progress and to manage the projects. I was also responsible for providing training to my personnel to insure my platoon maintained a high state of readiness and for supervising the maintenance of the platoon's resources (construction tools, equipment, and vehicles) so that they were available to support the Engineer School.

As the Section Chief for Military Occupational Specialty (MOS) 12F, Engineer Tracked Vehicle Crewman, in the Directorate of Training Development of the US Army Engineer School, I was responsible for developing training products affecting over 3,000 engineer soldiers in MOS 12F. I supervised a staff of 5-7 military subject matter experts and civilian education specialists. Collectively, we developed (wrote, reviewed, revised, edited, and approved all printed text and art) and validated (field tested for accuracy) all training products for MOS 12F, including the first edition of the Skill Qualification Test for these soldiers. Additionally, we reviewed and revised the Program of Instruction of the MOS 12F Resident Course. We coordinated the development of training packages for new equipment systems with the Directorate of Combat Developments. Additionally, I had the responsibility as the Army Assistant Contracting Officer Representative for training material developed by the Chrysler Corporation for existing engineer equipment systems.

Executive Summary

Extensive executive experience developing organizational goals and policies; formulating and executing plans and programs to achieve strategic objectives; conducting studies and analysis to support sound decision making; and managing people. Extensive oral and written communication experience, including public speaking and meeting facilitation.

- Founder and director of successful energy and environmental consulting firm.
- Consultant to the Office of the Secretary of Defense, providing strategic and analytical support on issues related to energy, the environment and national security.
- Advisor to numerous governmental, non-governmental and private sector organizations on managing risk and aligning investments to organizational priorities.
- Member of United Nations Montreal Protocol Technology and Economics Assessment Panel, advising negotiators on proposed amendments and adjustments to environmental treaty.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Independent Consultant

1995 - Present

- Principal author of a 2008 Defense Science Board (DSB) study titled, "More Fight – Less Fuel" that determined reducing energy demand by military forces could improve operational effectiveness and reduce operational vulnerabilities. Principal author of a 2001 DSB report that concluded reduced operational energy demands could reduce costs and improve force structure balance. Guided group of 77 senior executives and retired general officers toward consensus findings and recommendations.
- As a recognized energy and business process expert, retained by the Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD) to implement recommendations from these reports, including development of new strategies, policies, procedures and analytical tools to incorporate energy considerations into force planning, requirements development, acquisition and infrastructure decisions, including:
 - an energy-based key performance parameter linking operational energy demand to mission effectiveness.
 - guidance for applying the "fully burdened cost of fuel" to analysis of alternatives and acquisition trades.
 - a risk-based approach to energy investments at installations to assure continuity of mission through greater efficiency and use of renewable energy sources.
- Contributing author to 2007 CNA report "National Security and the Threat of Climate Change" which examined the national security consequences of global climate change, including geopolitical instability, infrastructure vulnerabilities, food and water scarcity, and the potential for humanitarian disasters. This study recommended governmental actions that could help prepare the Department of Defense (DoD) for potential missions required under varying climate change scenarios.
- In support of the Office of the Under Secretary of Defense for Acquisition, Technology and Logistics (AT&L), identified business process changes needed to manage risks caused by the use of environmentally problematic materials in DoD's supply chain.

- Represented Lawrence Berkley National Laboratory, on a Department of Energy task force that investigated critical infrastructure protection requirements and recommended technology investments to improve the resilience of national energy infrastructure.
- Engaged by the Center for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS) to develop and produce a forum on "Biofuels and National Security," which demonstrated that there is adequate resource capacity for biofuels to mitigate U.S. dependence on foreign oil and identified public policies to enable greater exploitation of renewable energy sources.

Institute for Defense Analyses (IDA) /
Science and Technology Policy Institute (STPI)

1994 – Present

- As an adjunct at IDA, provides objective analysis of national security issues. Current work is focused on creating opportunities for collaboration with the European Union, other key allies and strategic competitors on managing climate change effects on military operations.
- As an adjunct at STPI, provided the White House Office of Science and Technology Policy with an independent assessment of the benefits and technical risk of the Administration's investments in technologies that purport to strengthen energy security and reduce greenhouse gas emissions.

Office of the Secretary of Defense

1993 – 1994

- Assisted in establishing and managing new office of the Deputy Under Secretary of Defense (DUSD) for Environmental Security. As military assistant to the DUSD, advised on the formulation and integration of environmental and energy programs and policies.

United States Air Force

1978 – 1993

- As a career military civil engineering officer, managed military facilities and construction programs in the U.S. and overseas. As base engineer in Galena, AK managed 120 support personnel. Supported the establishment of the first B-52 base in the United Kingdom, managed construction of the first Air Launched Cruise Missile installation in Europe and was chief of Air Force-wide environmental office during Pentagon tour.

United Nations Environment Programme
Technology and Economics Assessment Panel (TEAP) of the Montreal Protocol

1989 – Present

- As a member of the TEAP and in support of on-going global efforts to protect the ozone layer, produce periodic assessments of the technical and economic feasibility of strengthening the Montreal Protocol. These reports serve as the basis for diplomatic negotiations.
- Contributing author to Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) reports assessing the effects of the Montreal Protocol on atmospheric greenhouse gas emissions.

FY08/09 IDA Project Activity

With sponsorship of the Defense Threat Reduction Agency:

1. Nuclear Stability in Asia:
 - a. What are the potential new sources of instability in the relationships of strategic military power among Asia's major powers?
 - b. How does China's nuclear policy community understand the requirements of nuclear stability and security? How should this inform the China-US nuclear dialogue?
2. The Evolving Requirements of Extended Deterrence:
 - a. What are the new challenges of extended assurance and deterrence in the emerging security environment (a series of case studies)?
3. Regional Threat Reduction Strategies:
 - a. What are the lessons of past successes in preventing nuclear tipping points from being crossed in the global subregions?
 - b. How can those lessons be adapted to inhibit the next wave of potential proliferators?
4. The Changing International Political Order and its Implications for Nuclear Order:
 - a. How is the changing cast of rising, falling, and stagnating powers affecting the quest for stable international nuclear order?

With sponsorship of the United States Institute of Peace:

- Analytical support to the Congressional Commission on the Future of the Strategic Posture of the United States. Serving as lead drafter.

With IDA central research support:

- East Asia Security Strategy:
 - Four times in the 1990s, the USG issued statements of East Asia Security Strategy, but none has been issued since 1998.
 - This project is a joint activity of IDA, the Center for Naval Analyses, NDU's Institute for National Security Studies, Pacific Forum CSIS, and the Center for a New American Security, aimed at drafting a new USG strategy statement.
 - IDA's key contributions: elaboration of strategies to manage China's rise and to reduce WMD threats and risks.

DOROTHY ROBYN

Education

University of California, Berkeley, Ph.D. and M.P.P. in Public Policy; Southern Illinois University, B.A. in Political Science and Journalism

Biography

Dr. Robyn brings more than 20 years of experience analyzing, implementing, and working to reform government regulatory and economic policy. She specializes in rigorous economic analysis of controversial and often-complex public policy issues that relate to competition in aviation, telecommunications, and other network industries. She strives to develop reports and expert testimony that can influence the policy debate—and resulting government decisions—by making the underlying economic issues clear and compelling to non-economists. Her recent work has focused on spectrum allocation, financing of the air traffic control system, and liberalization of international aviation competition and investment.

Prior to joining The Brattle Group, Dr. Robyn was a Guest Scholar at the Brookings Institution. From 1993 to 2001, she was a senior economic adviser to President Clinton, and served on the staff of the White House National Economic Council. She was responsible for coordinating the Administration's policy on transportation, aviation, aerospace and defense, science and technology, international telecommunications, and competition.

In Brief

- Proven track-record as a scholar and practitioner of international security affairs, with expertise in crisis management, stabilization and reconstruction operations, and humanitarian assistance. Extensive knowledge of regional conflict venues spanning Europe, East and South Asia, Africa and the Western Hemisphere.
- High-level public service as: a deputy assistant secretary of defense, an advisor to senior United Nations officials, and a subject matter expert for U.S. high-level bipartisan study groups.
- Extensive experience in research and project management at federally-funded institutions as well as policy research organizations and universities in the private sector.

Professional Experience

Since 2001 - Director of Research, Institute for National Strategic Studies, National Defense University, Washington, D.C.

Direct staff of 25 senior research fellows (civilian and military) who conduct studies on regional security within four geographic regions (Near-East/South Asia, East Asia/Pacific, Western Hemisphere, Europe/Eurasia) as well as three functionally-focused areas: terrorism/transnational threats, strategic concept development and American defense strategy and policy. Also supervise the provision of analytic support to the Department of Defense and its interagency partners and the conduct of outreach activities by the INSS research team and exchanges with foreign counterpart institutions. Among the main projects supervised: The Future Security Environment of 2010; China's Global Activism; Iraq's post-Saddam challenges; The Problem of de-Ba'athification in post-Saddam Iraq; the Implications of a Nuclear-Armed Iran; Combating Ideological Support for Terrorism; the Future of the U.S.-Republic of Korea Alliance; and Toward a Theory of Spacepower. Led INSS research exchanges in Australia, Japan, China, Republic of Korea, Russia, Pakistan, Romania, and Lithuania.

1997- 2001 Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense (Peacekeeping and Humanitarian Affairs), U.S. Department of Defense

Provided oversight of Defense Department activities in the areas of peacekeeping/stability operations, disaster relief, refugee assistance, migrant operations, crisis-action planning, humanitarian de-mining and non-combatant evacuations. Played key role in developing U.S. responses to crises in Kosovo, East Timor, Sierra Leone, Democratic Republic of the Congo, the Eritrea-Ethiopian war, and to major natural disasters in Central America, Turkey, Venezuela, and Mozambique. Instrumental in launching DOD initiatives to train foreign militaries in peacekeeping; to clear unexploded ordnance (UXO) from Kosovo; to strengthen U.S. crisis planning; and to provide de-mining assistance to Vietnam. Coordinated DOD's participation in negotiations that led to adoption of two international protocols strengthening prohibitions against the use of children in armed conflict while also safeguarding U.S. military recruitment and readiness requirements. Supported then-Secretary of Defense William Cohen at ministerial meetings in Australia, Indonesia, Thailand, Singapore and Vietnam, and traveled to sixteen other countries to conduct bilateral exchanges.

1994-97 Resident Associate, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, Washington DC

Lead investigator on project assessing international assistance to post-conflict transitions. Served on an expert group led by CEIP President Morton Abramowitz that developed proposal for the International Crisis Group, a private non-governmental organization launched in 1995. Testified before Congress; made extensive media appearances; conducted field research in Haiti, El Salvador, Guatemala, Bosnia-Herzegovina and Croatia.

1993-94 Senior Associate, The Henry L. Stimson Center, Washington D.C.

Served as lead investigator on project investigating the roles, limits, and utility of confidence-building measures in resolving international border disputes in unstable regions. Testified before Hemispheric Security Committee of the Organization of American States.

1989-94 Advisor, United Nations Secretariat, UN Headquarters, NY

Served as special projects analyst for:

- The Special Representative of the Secretary-General (SRSG) for former Yugoslavia, Zagreb, Croatia (1993-94)
- The Special Representative of the Secretary-General (SRSG), UN Transitional Authority in Cambodia, Phnom Penh (1992-93)
- The Under-Secretary General for Disarmament Affairs, New York (1989-91)

Projects included field assessments of relief operations, movement control and external influences in the Bosnian Federation; of the UN's capacity to support elections and civil police missions in post-war Cambodia; and of the design of the UN Special Commission to implement UN Security Council Resolution 687 and associated cease-fire resolutions in the 1991 Gulf War.

1987-88 Research Fellow, Foreign Policy Studies, The Brookings Institution, Washington, DC

As a pre-doctoral research fellow in residence, completed doctoral dissertation on Soviet-American arms control diplomacy, 1972-1989.

1984-87 Executive Officer, The Aspen Strategy Group, Cambridge, MA

Coordinated activities of the Aspen Strategy Group, a twenty-member bipartisan policy studies committee co-chaired by Dr. William Perry and Lt. Gen. Brent Scowcroft, USAF (ret) and directed by Prof. Joseph Nye. Produced reports/edited volumes on a range of defense and arms control issues -- ballistic missile defense, anti-satellite weapons, chemical deterrence, and European security.

1983-87 Research Fellow, Center for Science and International Affairs
(CSIA), Kennedy School of Government, Harvard University, Cambridge, MA

Conducted research in support of CSIA projects on strategy and arms control policy issues; undertook research for doctoral dissertation; supported the Aspen Strategy Group program, cited above.

1982-83 Research Associate, The International Institute for Strategic Studies, London

Conducted research for a project on methodologies for verifying international arms control agreements and resolving compliance disputes.

1978-81 Foreign Affairs Officer, U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, Washington DC

Member of special analysis staff for Barry Blechman, then Assistant Director of ACDA for Weapons Evaluation and Control; also worked on nuclear testing/verification issues for ACDA's Bureau of Multilateral Affairs.

Biography

Michael Scionti

Michael Scionti is a Tampa native and has earned himself unique distinction in Florida's legal community by having dedicated his entire professional career to protecting the rights of others in and out of the courtroom, on and off the battlefield, and throughout the halls of the legislature.

Mr. Scionti earned his Bachelor of Science in Criminal Justice from Florida State University in 1990 and his Juris Doctorate from South Texas College of Law in 1996. He has been a member of the Florida Bar since 1996. He is also licensed to practice before the United States Supreme Court, the United States District Court of Appeal for the Eleventh Circuit, the United States District Court for the Middle District of Florida, and the United States Military Court of Appeals.

Mr. Scionti has an exceptionally accomplished and remarkably diverse background. He spent several years as a criminal prosecutor for the State of Florida, fighting for those who could not fight for themselves. He began his prosecutorial career serving as an Assistant Attorney General, where he honed his skills of interpretive legal analysis before Florida's appellate courts and successfully advanced legal positions on behalf of crime victims. Mr. Scionti later became a staunch advocate for victims in criminal courtrooms across Florida, where he served both as an Assistant State Attorney and Assistant Statewide Prosecutor.

Commissioned as an officer in United States Army Reserve in 2000, Mr. Scionti graduated from the Army's military justice and military intelligence academies. As an Army Judge Advocate and Intelligence Officer, Mr. Scionti served two combat tours of duty in Afghanistan and Iraq in support of Operations Enduring and Iraqi Freedom, respectively, and returned home a decorated war veteran, receiving the Bronze Star Medal for his proven leadership during ground combat operations. During these operations, Mr. Scionti ensured the safety and security of U.S. and Coalition Forces as he presided over military commissioned war tribunals and internment hearings in accordance with the Hague and Geneva Conventions, assisted in the reconstitution of Iraq's Ministry of Justice as a principal advisor on the Iraqi Judicial Assessment Team, and implemented law of war policy, rules of engagement, and detention procedures in the prosecution of enemy combatants and foreign insurgents.

In addition to these pursuits, Mr. Scionti ran for and was elected to the Florida House of Representatives in 2006 and was re-elected to his second term in 2008. As the State Representative for Legislative District 58, Mr. Scionti successfully advocates on behalf of residents of the Great State of Florida and, in the spirit of bipartisanship, often reaches across party lines to pass laws in keeping with sound public safety and economic policy. In his continuing efforts to protect and serve our community and our state, Mr. Scionti has been a driving force for Florida's public safety and homeland security, our combat veterans and their families, and on military affairs and combat readiness. As the House Minority Whip and key member of House Leadership, he has earned the trust and loyalty of his colleagues in both Chambers of the Florida Legislature by upholding the principles of his convictions and faithfully serving as a "voice for the voiceless".

Mr. Scionti's proven leadership in the courtroom, unyielding passion for truth and justice, and steadfast commitment to the people of Florida is a testament to his hard work and dedication in upholding the principles and ideals of which he believes.

Distinctions

- In 2009, Mr. Scionti will become an adjunct professor with the University of South Florida, teaching a course on International Relations and Foreign Affairs within the University's Honors College.
- In 2007 and 2008, Mr. Scionti was the recipient of the Florida Chamber of Commerce "Honor Roll" Award in recognition for his legislative leadership on commerce, trade, and economic policy and for his commitment to creating jobs and strengthening Florida's business climate.
- In 2007, Mr. Scionti was recognized both by the State and National Disabled American Veterans Associations for his dedicated work on behalf of the men and women who have honorably served our nation and now suffer because of their service.
- At South Texas College of Law, where Mr. Scionti earned his Juris Doctorate, he received the Christopher Langdell Scholarship for outstanding academic performance and was the recipient of the American Jurisprudence Award in Torts.

Professional & Community Involvement

Michael Scionti is actively involved in a variety of local and statewide professional organizations, commissions, and boards committed to safeguarding and improving the quality of life for all Floridians. Appointed by the Speaker of the Florida House of Representatives in 2006, Mr. Scionti serves as a member of Florida's Commission on Capital Cases, which is an oversight commission responsible for reviewing the administration of justice in all capital (death penalty) cases and advising and making recommendations to the Governor, the Legislature, and the Supreme Court of the State of Florida.

Since he was elected to the Florida House of Representatives in 2006, Mr. Scionti served on various councils and committees in the Florida Legislature to include the Government Efficiency and Accountability Council, Public Safety and Homeland Security Committee, Military and Veterans' Affairs Committee, Infrastructure Committee, and Joint Select Committee on Property Tax Relief and Reform.

As a true advocate for victim's rights, especially those who suffer from domestic abuse, Mr. Scionti was selected in 2006 to serve as a Board Member of Hillsborough County's Family Justice Center, which is a community-wide collaborative between public, private, and non-profit organizations providing comprehensive services to domestic violence victims and their families.

Mr. Scionti was also selected in 2007 to serve as a Board Member of Hillsborough County's Community Action Board, which provides recommendations on policy governing the development, planning, implementation, and evaluation of the Community Services Block Grant funds and programs that serve low-income residents and communities.

As a military reservist and combat veteran, Mr. Scionti proudly serves as a member both of the American Legion, Local Post #111, and Veterans of Foreign Wars, Local Post #454, advocating on behalf of the needs of our veterans.

As a Charter Member of the Optimist Club of Greater Tampa Bay in 2000, Mr. Scionti continues to devote his time and energy helping others in keeping with his favorite passage of the optimist creed, "to think only of the best, to work only for the best, and to expect only the best."

TERENCE SZUPLAT

Speechwriting & Strategic Communications

With more than a decade of experience supporting the nation's foremost political, business and nonprofit leaders, former chief Pentagon speechwriter to the Secretary of Defense Terence Szuplat specializes in high-profile communications, message development and crafting effective speeches for targeted business, political, academic and international audiences.

Mr. Szuplat has written and edited hundreds of speeches, articles, opinion columns, press releases and reports. His work has appeared in leading publications, including The New York Times, The Washington Post, The Los Angeles Times, The Wall Street Journal Asia, The Washington Times and The International Herald Tribune. His personal commentaries have been published in The Atlanta Journal-Constitution and The Baltimore Sun, and he served as a speechwriter and editor during the 2004 and 2008 Democratic National Conventions.

At the age of 25, Mr. Szuplat was appointed Director of Speechwriting to Secretary of Defense William S. Cohen, overseeing a staff of four writers from 1998 to 2001. In addition to preparing major addresses on the 1998 air campaign against Iraq, the 1999 NATO air campaign over Kosovo, and security challenges in Europe and Asia, he drafted the nationally televised address in which Secretary Cohen honored the victims of the August 1998 terrorist attacks on U.S. embassies in Africa. He was awarded the Secretary of Defense Medal for Outstanding Public Service for turning "the communication of public policy from assignment to art form."

A professional staff member of the Senate Armed Services Committee from 2001-2002, Mr. Szuplat also served on the staff of the Commission on Protecting and Reducing Government Secrecy, chaired by Senator Daniel Patrick Moynihan, from 1995-1998. A 1995 honors graduate of American University in Washington, DC, he was selected for research/intern positions in the White House Speechwriting Office and the British Parliament. He was named by Washingtonian Magazine in 1999 as one of 100 "People to Watch" for displaying "the talent and the drive to make a difference in the decades ahead."

EXPERIENCE HIGHLIGHTS

- Over 25 years experience in government, non-profit work and academia.
- Respected authority on transatlantic relations; well known in US and European defense and foreign policy circles, at NATO and in the EU.
- At DoD, helped shape post-Cold War Europe by managing annual $100 million assistance program to prepare former Warsaw Pact militaries for NATO membership.

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

The Atlantic Council of the United States

2006 - Present

- Vice President and Director of the Program on International Security

Inherited business unit in deep deficit; set new record by bringing it to solvency within one year by attracting eleven new industry and government funders.

Under the Chairmanship of General James L. Jones, built a Strategic Advisors Group of leading US and European security experts to provide policy recommendations on transatlantic security issues, such as rebuilding Afghanistan and reforming transatlantic institutions, especially NATO.

Re-energized The Atlantic Council by launching high profile conferences on critical security issues of the day, including US relations with Russia, missile defense, and operations in Afghanistan and the Balkans.

Developed a strategic outreach program featuring important newsmakers, such as CENTCOM commander General Petraeus, CIA Director Hayden, Under Secretary of State Nick Burns, to provide their views on US policy to a widespread Washington audience outside the USG.

Office of the Secretary of Defense

2002 - 2006

- Principal Director, European and NATO Policy
- Director of NATO Policy

Negotiated European participation in NATO and coalition operations in Afghanistan and Iraq; used new funding and support programs to ensure European partners had the military equipment and training required to deploy and operate in-theater.

Developed significant initiatives for the NATO Summits in Prague, Istanbul and Riga to improve Alliance military capability, including the NATO Response Force and a streamlined

NATO command structure.

Calling on long-standing relationships, worked closely with colleagues throughout Europe to improve bilateral communications and devise initiatives to shore up US relations with Allies and Partners weakened by the war in Iraq, with a particular focus on US-German and US-French military relations.

US Mission to NATO

1998 - 2002

- Director, Defense Plans Division

Used winning negotiating skills to strengthen the Alliance stance against terrorism, to begin work on missile defense and to implement force goals that moved Allied forces from a static posture to become more deployable for missions outside Europe.

Led the implementation at NATO of the Defense Capabilities Initiative, which identified and developed solutions for Alliance capability shortfalls; worked with Allies to reform national force structures, and worked closely with the new Allies to improve their interoperability with NATO.

Office of the Secretary of Defense

1990 - 1998

- Deputy Director, European Policy
- Country Director, Northern Europe

Implemented an annual $100M funding program (the "Warsaw Initiative") to get Partnership for Peace (PFP) members ready for NATO membership.

Developed and funded dozens of creative DoD programs to improve interoperability with PFP partners, such as: upgrading air traffic management capabilities, establishing Partner computer links to NATO, and assisting Partner Ministries of Defense with planning and budgeting.

Defense Security Cooperation Agency

1983 - 1990

- Office of the Comptroller
- Operations Division

Conceived and implemented with Bankers Trust an FMS debt refinancing program which, by refinancing the interest rates on older, high interest US guaranteed loans, reduced by millions the debt burden of US arms sales customers who financed their purchases by borrowing from the US Government.

Worked in all aspects of the financial side of US arms sales, including developing creative financing packages to fund arms sales, putting together "cash flow" financing for large purchases, managing the FMS credit and grant program, dealing with debt repayment problems.

With US industry, spearheaded efforts to market and sell US military equipment in Europe, including F-16s to Portugal, F-18s to Finland, and naval systems to Spain.

ADDITIONAL WORK EXPERIENCE

- Office of Congressman Charles E. Bennett (D/FL)
- Department of State, Bureau of International Organization Affairs

- Engages with DoD and other government customers to identify emerging needs and requirements. Develops business and technology strategies, supports merger and acquisition activities, leads new program capture efforts and oversees pre-EMD development of new military systems for domestic and international markets.
- Directly manages 76 executive directors, program managers and professional staff supported by a matrixed engineering and technical support staff of over 750 personnel.
- Member of the Raytheon Missile Systems leadership team, supporting the company president in managing the $5.4 B annual revenue Raytheon Missile Systems enterprise.

2008 – 2009

Stephen Welby, Sole Proprietor

Bethesda, Maryland

Aerospace and Defense Consultant

- Conducted studies and assessments of emerging aerospace and defense technologies for government customers.

2004 – 2008

Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency

Arlington, Virginia

Director and Deputy Director, Tactical Technology Office

- Led the DARPA Tactical Technology Office, managing and directing selected basic and applied system and platform research and development projects for the US Department of Defense; pursuing advanced research and technology where risk and payoff are both very high and where success may provide dramatic advances in US military capabilities.
- Managed an annual research and development budget in excess of $750M.
- Senior executive responsible for a diverse portfolio of major research and development programs focused on delivering breakthrough capabilities in manned and unmanned air, and sea platforms, space systems, novel weapons, and advanced tactical capabilities. Typical projects led to high-visibility demonstrations, rapid-reaction system acquisitions or critical impacts on major defense plans and programs.
- Developed comprehensive research investment strategies, planned and executed high-payoff technology and system prototype development efforts. Directed, mentored and motivated a staff of nationally recognized senior scientists and program managers. Managed concept development, program planning, technical execution, portfolio risk assessment, fiscal execution and transition to service customers.
- Key project highlights:
 - Orbital Express – Developed, launched and conducted an on-orbit LEO demonstration of a two satellite system demonstrating autonomous rendezvous, docking and space servicing; MITECH – Developed, launched and conducted an on-orbit GEO demonstration of three GEO microsatellite technology demonstrators; Falcon – Developed and flight tested the first commercially developed booster for low cost space access; Oblique Flying Wing – Initiated a new X-plane development effort to demonstrate efficient subsonic and supersonic flight; Heliplane – Initiated a new X-plane development effort for a high-speed gyroplane with a tip-jet reaction drive rotor system; Vulture – Initiated a new X-plane development effort to demonstrate an ultra-long endurance high-altitude unmanned aircraft; A160 – Developed and tested an unmanned rotorcraft that established a new unrefueled helicopter endurance world record; HyFly – Developed and flight tested the first Mach 6 cruise missile; HTV – Developed the first Mach 20 hypersonic aerodynamic glide vehicle; Blackswift – Initiated a $750M joint effort with USAF to develop a Mach 6 capable aircraft; Micro Air Vehicle ACTD – Developed and demonstrated a ducted fan, man-portable hovering UAV adopted by the US Army Future Combat System and by the US Navy for EOD support; HELLADS – Developed the first practical, compact, tactically integrated diode pumped solid state laser weapon and UPI – Developed, fielded and demonstrated a 9000kg robotic combat vehicle integrating advanced perception and planning to conduct military missions in complex terrain.
- Provided advice and consulting support to senior military leadership and the Office of the Secretary of Defense in areas of technical expertise. Communicated agency and program objectives through contacts with print and television media and through frequent public speaking engagements.

2001 – 2004

Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency

Arlington, Virginia

Acting Director and Deputy Director, Information Exploitation Office

- Planned, staffed and led a new office at DARPA focused on research and development of sensor and information system technology and systems with application to battle space awareness, targeting, command and control, and information integration.
- Managed a research and development budget in excess of $500M.
- Developed and led world-class research and development programs exploring cutting edge opportunities in network-centric warfare, machine intelligence, optical and RF sensing, simulation and modeling and advanced human-machine interfaces.
- Key project highlights:
 - CPOF – Developed, hardened and fielded a distributed, collaborative command and control system adopted by the US Army as the principal C2 tool in Operation Iraqi Freedom; AT3 – Developed and demonstrated a networked ELINT targeting system for tactical aircraft, adopted by the US Air Force as an upgrade to current fighter aircraft; TTNT – Developed and demonstrated a wideband airborne data link for future network-centric systems; HURT – Developed new tools and techniques for managing and tasking swarms of heterogeneous unmanned air vehicles to perform coordinated functions; JIGSAW – Developed and demonstrated a high-resolution through-foilage three-dimensional LIDAR imaging system; FOPEN – Developed and operationally demonstrated UHF/VHF through-foilage synthetic aperture radar and data exploitation system; MANTIS – Developed a next generation night vision capability integrating near, mid and long wave sensor data into an augmented reality environment for the individual soldier and Urban Combat – Led studies to address the technology needs of future urban combat and developed a portfolio of sensor, C2 and targeting technology developments efforts to address capability shortfalls.

Stephen P. Welby

(b)(6)

1997 – 2001

Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency

Arlington, Virginia

Program Manager, Information Systems and Special Projects Offices

- Designed, developed and led advanced technology research, development and demonstration programs of national importance in networked sensing and strike, real-time image processing, pattern recognition and navigation and guidance. Identified emerging technologies and developed programs to rapidly transition new capabilities from laboratory into practical application. Managed the schedule, budget and technical performance of large, high-visibility, multi-contractor programs. Worked with military users to develop and deploy new technology-driven materiel concepts and doctrine.
- Managed the Semi-Automated Imagery Intelligence Exploitation program, a four-year, $120M advanced concept technology demonstration that developed and delivered advanced synthetic aperture radar and electro-optic geospatial imagery analysis automation capabilities to Army and Air Force users to support U2, Global Hawk and other national missions. Products of this effort have had significant impact on real world operations.
- Managed the DARPA Affordable Moving Surface Target Engagement (AMSTE) program, a $116M effort which developed and integrated new technologies to enable low-cost, precision-guided weapon delivery against surface moving targets. The program demonstrated new weapons, networking and radar signal processing capabilities and has transitioned directly to US Air Force acquisition.
- Managed the DARPA portfolio of navigation and guidance systems including work on low cost integrated inertial guidance systems, high performance MEMS gyroscopes and counter GPS jamming technologies.
- Led many smaller projects involving small business and university researchers. These projects usually involved mentoring small development teams from initial concept through proof-of-principal prototyping to first item-to-market.

1988 – 1997

US Army Research Laboratory

Adelphi, Maryland

Project Engineer/Team Leader

- Led team of in-house researchers developing advanced synthetic aperture radar image processing, target recognition and image compression algorithms, including efforts that supported payload development for the Predator unmanned air vehicle. Planned, scheduled, budgeted and coordinated research, software development and field demonstration efforts.
- Conducted software safety and reliability studies in support of conventional and nuclear artillery and missile applications.
- Performed production and engineering development functions in support of US Army Special Operations Forces programs.
