

THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE
1000 DEFENSE PENTAGON
WASHINGTON, DC 20301-1000

(b)(6)

Vice President
J. K. Boatwright & Co., P.C.
17 1/2 North LaFayette Square
LaGrange, GA 30240

Dear (b)(6)

I am pleased to invite you to participate in the 59th Joint Civilian Orientation Conference (JCOC 59) beginning Monday, April 22, 1996, and ending Sunday, April 28, 1996. Specific information about the itinerary, costs, transportation, and other details is enclosed in a general instructions packet.

If you choose to participate, you will see the people and equipment that make up our nation's defenses. You will join about 60 other distinguished citizens at the Pentagon for high-level discussions of national security issues. Then you will observe Navy aircraft carrier and submarine operations in Norfolk, Virginia. From there you will travel to Nellis Air Force Base, Nevada, to view Air Force global combat capabilities. The next stop will be Fort Lewis, Washington, for a demonstration of high-technology Army equipment and special operations. The final stop will be Camp Pendleton, California, where you will observe Marine Corps air-ground combat operations.

I would appreciate a faxed response at your earliest convenience to Ms. Linda Tripp, JCOC 59 Director, at (b)(6). If you are able to attend, please follow up with a written reply within two weeks using the enclosed postage-paid, pre-addressed envelope to forward your acceptance, deposit, and personal information papers. Please call Ms. Tripp at (b)(6) if you have any questions.

The conference should prove exceptionally interesting and informative. I hope you will join us.

Sincerely,

William J. Perry
